Oyster Bay Town Councilman Kenneth S. Diamond officiates at the unveiling of a sign bearing the new name for the East Plains Mental Health Services, Inc. which is Central Nassau Guidance and Counseling Services, Inc. Diamond, who is Vice President of the agency's Board of Directors, is joined by Vice President Roy Burnham and Executive Director Robert Bressler, right. Central Nassau Guidance and Counseling Services, Inc. will serve the communities of Bethpage, Farmingdale, Hicksville, Jericho, Old Bethpage, Plainedge, Plainview and South Farmingdale.

Democratic Town Board candidates Allan Lerner and Pat Conglio (standing) greet Democratic Committee persons Stuart and Joan Joseph, (left) of Syosset and Dolores and Seymour Vidur of Woodbury at a recently held Democratic fund raiser at Crest Hollow Country Club.

Midland Civics Hold First Meeting

By Gertrude Paul

The first meeting of the 1985-86 season of the Midland Civic Association was held at the Willet Avenue School on October 16 and it was a smash! In line with its policy of informing their members of any pertinent information, the program was a double-header!

Firstly, Virginia Germer, representing the Neighborhood Watch, gave an informative talk on how we can protect ourselves and our property in view of the large number of robberies and other violations of the law that have recently plagued our community. Further information was provided by patrolman Terry McGovern of the Second Precinct who was also most helpful and answered questions. The auditorium at Willet Avenue School was almost filled, and many people signed up for a course on how to conduct a Neighborhood Watch. We feel this action is a warning and that those seeking to commit a crime in our area had better watch out!

The second part of the program was a Meet the Candidates night. Candidates for office from the Democratic, Republican, Conservative, Liberal and Right to Life parties were on hand and each was given three minutes to state their views. The program was well organized and ran with precision, thanks to the efforts of Eileen Richards, Ellie Draycott and Gert Paul. A lively discussion ensued when Midland members asked questions of the various candidates. Members of the association are now well informed and should exercise their precious right to make a choice on Election Day, November 5. We hope you will all do so, for showing your interest is the strength of our country.

Refreshments were served and there was a half-hour of good fellowship before the meeting closed.

Veterans Group Memorial Services

The United Veterans of Hicksville, under the sponsorship of the Masonic War Veterans, will conduct Memorial Services honoring fallen comrades on Veterans Day, Monday, Nov. 11. The services will take place at the Memorial Plaque at the Hicksville Jr. High School of Jerusalem Ave. The program will begin at 10 a.m. with massing of the colors. All are invited to participate in this meaningful tribute to our war heroes. The principal speaker will be Mayor George Ferris of Fort Totten, graduate of West Point.

Holy Trinity H.S. Concert Next Wk.

On Friday evening, November 15, the Wolfe Tones will be in Concert at Holy Trinity Diocesan High School, Newbridge Road, Hicksville at 8 p.m. in the Trinity Theatre. Tickets are $12.50 if purchased in advance ($15 at the door). For tickets or information, call Marty Logan at 796-3103 or Paul Basel at 796-7276. Doors open at 7 p.m. Dancing, food and refreshments are available at intermission and at the Afterglow following the performance. The high school will benefit from the proceeds of this event.

100 Gallon Oil Spill

A fuel oil truck spilled 100 gallons of number 4 oil on New South Road, in Hicksville at 12:40 p.m. on October 22.

The truck operated by Jose Malde, 23, of Brooklyn had a leak and spilled the fuel on the roadway in the vicinity of New South Road and Old Country Road, in Hicksville. The roadway was closed to traffic. The operator has been issued tickets for Failure to Report a Spill and for Discharging the Fuel on the roadway. The investigation by the Police is continuing. The Fire Marshalls Office, Emergency Services Bureau, and the Hicksville Fire Department were called to the scene.

The Town of Oyster Bay cleaned up the road on October 23. Until then, the roadway remained closed.

Residents Go To Polls In Tuesday's Elections

Election Day is next Tuesday, November 5, and voting will take place from 6 a.m. to 9 p.m.

Residents of the Town of Oyster Bay will choose a supervisor. Incumbent Joseph Colby has been supervisor for nine years. He is running with Republican, Conservative endorsement. Joseph DelGiaco of Bayville is the Democrat, Aaron Schein, Liberal and Raymond G. Murphy, Right to Life. Three Republican members of the Town Board, Kenneth Diamond, Howard Hogan and Douglas Hynes are running for reelection; all three have Conservative endorsement. Democratic contenders are Joseph Palumbo, Noel Egan and Allan Lerner. Liberal party contenders for the Board are Michael James, William Becker and Mark Siegel. Right to Life candidates for the Town Board include Laurencé Veras, Jean Ryan and Margaret McGeary.

In addition to choosing Town officials, residents will choose a number of County officials. Seeking a four year term as County Executive are: Incumbent Francis Purcell, Republican/Conservative; John Matthews, Democrat; Jack Olchin, Liberal; Raymond Voulo, M.D., Right to Life.

Running for a four year position as District Attorney is incumbent Dennis Dillon, who is supported by all parties.

Seeking a four year term as County Comptroller are incumbent Peter King, Republican/Conservative; Raymond Grunewald, Democrat/Liberal; Francis Gilroy, Right to Life.

Running for a three year term as County Clerk are incumbent Harold Mc Connell, Republican/Conservative; Ellen Hirnbaum, Democrat; John Hagan, Liberal; Mary Sullivan, Right to Life.

Seeking a six year term as Chairman of the Board of Assessors are Abe Seldin, Republican/Conservative; Bradley Bernstein, Democrat; Rosemary Miller, Liberal; and John Dunkle, Right to Life.

In addition to choosing candidates, voters will also approve or reject five proposals:

Proposal One would allow the State to expand the loan capacity of the Job Development Authority by guaranteeing up to $600,000,000 of its bonds and permit JDA to lend up to 60% of a project's cost.

Proposal Two would allow the State legislature to pass tax laws which incorporate, by reference alone, any similar provisions of federal tax law.

Proposition Three would allow the State Court of Appeals, New York's highest court, to answer questions of law at the request of the U.S. Supreme Court, a Court of Appeals of the U.S. or the highest court of another state.

Proposal Four would allow any county, city, town, village or school district to issue sinking fund bonds as well as the currently allowed serial bonds. The two differ as to method of payment and duration of payment.

Proposal Five would allow current limitations to be set aside on the amount that can be raised by school districts within a city of fewer than 125,000 residents.

Children's Library Fall Programs

The Fall festival of children's programs is continuing at the Hicksville Public Library. In celebration of Children's Book Week the Children's Room will present the Leela Puppet Theatre in "A Comical Gypsy Circus" on Saturday, November 16, at 2 p.m. The program is free and all are welcome to attend.

On Saturday, November 23, at 10:30 a.m. our 5 to 8 year old Hicksville children are invited to attend our special Thanksgiving Day Storycraft workshop. Registration will be held the week of November 4, and there is a materials fee of fifty cents.

On Saturday, November 30, the Children's Room of the Library will hold a "150th Birthday Party" for Mark Twain. All 6 to 12 year old Hicksville children are invited to come to see a special showing of the full length feature film the "Prince and the Pauper" and help celebrate Mark Twain's birthday. Registration for attendance at the birthday party will be held the week of November 4.

'Pet Pen Pal' Contest By P.O.

"One of life's real joys is receiving a letter from a friend or loved one. A good time to start or renew a correspondence is during National Card and Letter-Writing Week, November 3-9," says Roger Nienaberm, Hicksville Manager/Postmaster.

The theme of this year's Letter Writing Week is, "Lift Spirits-Be a Pen Pal."

The Hicksville Post Office is sponsoring a contest for all elementary school students in Hicksville, Jericho, Plainview and Old Bethpage. The best letter of 100 words or less, written to a lonely animal from the students pet will be awarded a special stamp collecting gift. The "Pet Pen Pal" winner will also get to meet "Midnight," the Great Dane mascot of Pioneers for Animal Welfare Society (PAWS), at the awards ceremony at the post office.

Another highlight of this year's National Card and Letter-Writing Week is the publication of "Junior Pen Pals", an educational booklet about letter-writing, and a "Junior Pen Pal Directory", which will be distributed to more than 15,000 elementary schools and educators who have expressed a desire to participate in the pen pal network.

The booklet will help students to write to pen pals of their own age in schools throughout the country and in some American schools abroad.

National Card and Letter Writing Week also continues the "Volunteer Scribe" program initiated in 1980. It encourages students and other concerned citizens to write and address letters for those who cannot do it for themselves, such as invalids and the elderly," added Mr. Nienaberm. Special volunteer scribe envelopes are available from the Hicksville Post Office.

Representatives from the Postal Service will be visiting schools during National Card and Letter Writing Week. To arrange a presentation or to obtain additional information about the "Pet Pen Pal" Contest or the Volunteer Scribe Program contact the Hicksville Post Office, Public Affairs Office at 933-2406.

More than 150 members of the Plainview-Old Bethpage Road Runners Club and their guests were on hand for the 5th annual pre-New York City Marathon Pasta Party on Friday evening, October 25. The Party, hosted by Woodbury Super Star Sneakers and Sports, was held at the VFW Hall in Hicksville. The Party featured plenty of pasta and eggplant parmesan, with lots of cold beer to wash it down. Pictured here enjoying the Party, are, left to right, POBRRC Secretary Howie Greenberg, President Mike Polansky, Norm Lison, Vice President Ira Eakow, and Gerry Kaufman.

"A marvelous piece of entertainment" is the way one reviewer described the recent student production of "Joseph and the Amazing Technicolor Dream Coat" at the Nassau Community College Mainstage Theatre. Starring in the title role was Robert Maier of Hicksville, whose performance was called "strong" and "showing professional theatre instincts". The next scheduled productions at the Community College will be the comedies "Vanities", beginning a 5 performance run on November 14 and "Hooters" which runs for 10 performances starting November 27. Tickets are $4 Friday and Saturday, $3 other nights. For ticket information and reservations call the box office Monday through Friday, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. at 222-7676.

Cancer Care Counseling Group

The death of a loved one is a traumatic experience which some people are never able to overcome. To help men and women talk about, confront and accept their loss thereby enabling them to remain open to the ongoing experiences of life, a bereavement counseling group for spouses has been formed by Cancer Care, Inc.

The group meets weekly on Tuesdays, 5:15-7:15 p.m. in the Plainview Library, Old Country Road, Plainview, under the expert leadership of a Cancer Care social worker. Advance registration and interview is required. The group is ongoing and there is no fee for this service. For information please call Harriet Orenstein at 363-8130.

Cancer Care, Inc., founded 41 years ago, offers comprehensive social work counseling, at no charge to patients and relatives in individual and group sessions to help people through the crisis of cancer. Cash disbursements are allocated to assist with certain home care and transportation costs. CCI, a non-profit agency, is separate and apart from any other cancer organizations.

News From Bethpage Library

Pinocchio Stars in Film Favorite for Youngsters at the Bethpage Public Library

On Saturday, November 9, Pinocchio will "visit the Bethpage Public Library in the film favorite, "Pinocchio in Outer Space" (color-72 min. to be shown for young people in grades K-6).

Poor Pinocchio! The beloved puppet has misbehaved again and dreams of redeeming himself in outer space!

Come on over and join Pinocchio and a fabulous extraterrestrial friend as they find a lost city on Mars, battle monster crabs, and are swallowed by a flying killer whale. Will the Blue Fairy rescue him, or is it already too late? Excitement galore, memorable music, skillful animation—a highly recommended, colorful cartoon tale.

Showtime is 2 p.m. Tickets are available now in the Bethpage Children's Room for youngsters who reside in School District #21. For further information, please call 931-3907.

Bethpage Library Bus Trip to Historic Raynham Hall

What was it like to be a child growing up in 18th and 19th Century Long Island? On Saturday, November 2, the Bethpage Public Library has planned an exciting bus trip for youngsters to Oyster Bay's historic Raynham Hall begun in 1738.

During this visit, young people will meet the Townsends—bold sea traders, clever Revolutionary War spies, Civil War patriots. And they will meet their children on tours, in a slide show, in stories, on a mysterious historical scavenger hunt, and in hands-on colonial crafts workshops.

How did young people do homework in the 18th Century? Have fun creating your own attractive quill pens, inkwells, and other items that youngsters used long ago.

The bus will leave promptly at 1 p.m. from in front of the library and will return at approximately 3:30 p.m. All young people in grades 2-6 residing in District #21 are invited to attend. Cost of $3.75 per person includes all museum fees and bus fare. Registration is now being taken in the Bethpage Children's Room for the limited number of places available on the bus. For information, please call 931-3907.

Magical Story Theater at the Bethpage Public Library

On Saturday, November 16, the Bethpage Public Library will present Jonathan Kruk in "Magical Story Theater," a program for young people in honor of National Children's Book Week.

Jonathan Kruk, a master of story theater, will usher up a glorious, rainbow-colored dragon, a mystery ring, a glass mountain that plays tricks and will take youngsters on a fabulous dangerous quest. He will create pure entertainment with his wonderful grab bag of outlandish and unforgettable tricks and stories from here, there and everywhere. Loads of scary shivers, giggles, and rollicking participation fun!

Actor, specialist in creative dramatics and story theater, Jonathan Kruk holds a master's degree in education and serves as Storyteller and Artist in Residence for the Freeport Public Schools. He has performed widely throughout the New York Metropolitan area.

Showtime is 2 p.m., and tickets are now available in the Bethpage Children's Room for all young people in Grades K-6 who reside in District #21. For information, please call 931-3907.

Top Runner To Speak

The featured speaker at the Tuesday, November 19 meeting of the Plainview-Old Bethpage Road Runners Club will be Long Island women's masters champion Maddy Harmeling.

Maddy, a native of Merrick, reaffirmed her position as Long Island's top female masters runner (age 40 and over) by winning the masters' trophy in the Long Island Women's 5 Kilometer Summer Championship Run this past July 4. She's also one of the top women runners of any age in the New York metropolitan area. She'll be on hand to share her experiences and insights—including a look at the 1984 Olympic trials, where she was a participant. Maddy is a witty and entertaining speaker, who has a lot to offer.

Also on the agenda will be filmed highlights of this year's Long Island Women's 5 Kilometer Summer Championship Run.

The meeting will be held at the Plainview-Old Bethpage Public Library, 999 Old Country Road in Plainview, starting promptly at 8 p.m. The general public is cordially invited to attend.

For more information, call POBRRC President Mike Polansky at 516-433-0919.

Halloween At Dutch Lane

There is more to Halloween than trick or treating, according to the children in Denise Yannone's class at the Dutch Lane School. During the past several weeks, their Halloween festivities have included carving a jack o'lantern, baking the pumpkin seeds and writing "newspaper stories" and poems about the events.

According to Nicky "The gook inside the pumpkin is slimy!" Adam and Ryan enjoyed scooping out the seeds and Richie and Janet did a great job in preparing the seeds for baking. John R. liked hearing the pumpkin seeds pop in the oven. John O. liked watching the pumpkin seeds bake and eating them afterward.

Colleen reported that a candle was placed in the jack o'lantern. The blinds were drawn, the lights were turned off and the children could let their imaginations take over.

The students are looking forward to their Halloween party and a traditional apple bobbing contest. The children are studying natural and healthy foods as part of their science unit and they will be having wholesome treats at their party.

Halloween can be a healthy and enjoyable learning experience as well as a lot of fun.

57 year old Jeanne Ofenloch of the Plainview-Old Bethpage Road Runners Club has established herself as one of the New York metropolitan area's top women runners in the 50-59 age group. Jeanne's most recent triumph came in the prestigious Great Cow Harbor Run in Northport on September 15, which attracted a world class field of over 3300 runners. Jeanne turned in a nifty time of 43:38 for this 10 Kilometer event, a great time at any age—and good enough to take the third place age group award behind two nationally ranked runners from out of the area. Jeanne, a Bethpage resident, does most of her running with husband George—who tries his best to keep up with her! Pictured here, Jeanne proudly displays her Cow Harbor award plaque.

Roy Schaaf Runs For Fire Comm.

Ex-Chief Roy Schaaf

Air Force Reserve Airman John Frankel, son of Nanette A. and John S. Frankel of 207 Acre Lane, Hicksville, has been assigned to Chauteau Air Force Base, Illinois, after completing Air Force basic training.

During the six weeks at Lackland Air Force Base, Texas, the airman studied the Air Force mission, organization and customs and received special training in human relations. In addition, airmen who complete basic training earn credits toward an associate degree through the Community College of the Air Force.

The airman will now receive specialized instructions in the aircraft maintenance field. He is a 1985 graduate of Hicksville High School.

In Service

Navy Lt. James D. Harnett, son of William G. Harnett of 118 Spindle Road, Hicksville, recently returned from a six and one half month deployment from the Mediterranean Sea while stationed aboard the frigate USS Trippe, homeported in Charleston, S.C.

A 1972 graduate of St. Dominic's High School, Oyster Bay, and a 1976 graduate of The Citadel, Charleston, S.C. with a Bachelor of Science degree, he joined the Navy in May, 1976.

Roy Schaaf, an ex-chief of the Hicksville Fire Department, has announced his candidacy for Fire Commissioner of the Hicksville Fire District.

Schaaf was born and raised in Hicksville. Roy and his wife Gwen are married over 30 years. They are the parents of four boys, Robert, George, Kurt and Fred. Schaaf has been a member of the Hicksville Fire Department since 1957 and has served in Engine Company 7 since then. He was also a member of the Hicks Drill Team from 1957 to 1962.

Roy Schaaf, called "Chief" by most members of the department has worked hard for his company serving on many committees on both Company and Department levels, and his hard work and leadership ability soon led him up the ladder of offices to the position of captain of Company 7 in 1966. He held that job for two years.

In 1970 Schaaf was elected 3rd Assistant Chief. He has held the subsequent chiefs' offices and was elected Chief of the Department by its members in 1976. As chief, Schaaf had to work closely with the Board of Fire Commissioners. Roy Schaaf feels these years have qualified him to be a competent member of the Board when elected Fire Commissioner.

Haz-Mat Team Keeps Very Busy

During the past month the Hicksville Fire Department Hazardous Materials team has been busy responding to a variety of emergency calls.

On October 15, at 12:16 p.m. the department and Haz-mat unit was requested at an acid spill inside an occupied building—Ebets Field Pub, 360 Duffy Ave. Upon arrival members found a portion of the building filled with toxic fumes from a small quantity of muriatic acid left standing too long. Three persons were transported to the County Medical Center for treatment. The acid was neutralized and disposed of.

The Haz-Mat team was requested on October 21, at 6:56 a.m. at the Servo Co. plant on New South Road for a 30 gallon spill of 900V Solvent which filled the plant with fumes. One worker was sent to the hospital suffering from the effects of exposure to the fumes. The spill was contained by team members but the Health Dept. closed the plant the remainder of the day due to fumes. The Fire Marshals Office, State Department of Environmental Conservation were also called to the scene.

October 22 at 12:21 p.m. Found Hicksville Vamps along with the Haz-Mat team at the scene of a five block long oil spill involving seventy gallons of #4 fuel oil. The driver had just made a delivery and forgot to disengage the pump. As he drove along the pump seals failed and oil spilled out.

Team members and other department members sealed off storm drains and requested the Town to sand the roadway. New South Road was closed till the next day from Old Country Road to Tudor Lane.

President's Tax Plan School Bd. Controversy

Special to the Mid Island Times
By Maureen Trazler

With the return of President William Bennett, after a two month absence due to illness, the full seven member school board held its general meeting on October 23.

School Superintendent Catherine Fenton introduced the district's newly appointed Director of Instruction, Dr. Susan Lebow. On the agenda for Board approval was the creation of the position of Supervisor of Enrichment Programs, a new position under the direction of Dr. Lebow. The Supervisor of Enrichment Programs is charged with developing, administering and supervising enrichment programs in the Hicksville schools. The Board passed this resolution unanimously. Back before the Board for the third time was Board member Jay Schwartz' resolution opposing the loss of state and local tax deductibility from federal income taxes (SALT-D) Board President Bennett noted that the Board has received correspondence supporting this resolution from the Dutch Lane PTA, the Lee Avenue PTA, the Hicksville PTA Council and the Senior High School PTSA.

There was a lengthy discussion as to whether this resolution could, indeed, come up again before the Board. President Bennett insisted that one member with a previous "nay" vote would have to withdraw his vote for discussion to proceed. Daniel MacBride conceded to withdraw his vote for discussion purposes.

Mr. Bennett then presented his views. He seemed outraged at the amount of attention being given to this subject. He personally felt that the average citizen is not aware of just what SALT-D is. Mr. Bennett also said that he would not be dissuaded by what he called "pressure groups" looking out for their own interests and causing people to be alarmed by claiming such drastic and damaging effects of the tax proposal. These remarks caused a stir among the audience and a raise of eyebrows by some Board members.

Mr. Bennett further said he believed that "the overall tax program is good for the people", that "people will pay" the price for school budgets even if they lose certain tax deductions, and that "they will not ask the Board to reduce its budget".

At this point Daniel MacBride introduced an amended resolution to the Board, taking many members by surprise. Mr. MacBride's resolution called for opposition to the loss of deductions by stating: "Be it resolved...that the Hicksville Board of Education takes exception to this provision in the President's tax simplification proposal before the Congress of the United States."

After Mr. MacBride read his proposed resolution which included a commendation to President Reagan for taking the initiative of simplifying the preparation of federal income tax laws, Lawrence Wolfson called this resolution a "political statement".

Although quite a squabble arose, the Board passed Mr. MacBride's resolution by a 5 to 2 vote with Mr. Wolfson and Arlene Rudin opposing.

The Curriculum Committee proposed course change requests on the secondary level. Jay Schwartz reported that in the English and Social Studies Departments at the high school it is planned to restore the honors level 10th grade English and social studies courses. District also plans to extend the foreign language program into the eighth grade next year to meet the requirements of the Regents Action Plan. The creation of two sports management programs were also proposed, a leadership program which will give an opportunity to interested seniors to work as student leaders in the department, and a sports medicine program to train students in prevention and treatment of common athletic injuries. All these course changes were unanimously approved by the Board.

Finance Committee Chairman Lawrence Moor stated that a comparison of costs for various insurance programs shows a projected increase in premiums for 1985-86 of over 100%. Compounding this, there are initial indications that the revenue base for 1986-87 will be over a million dollars less than this year. This means the possibility of a sizable increase in taxes for next year.

The committee also requested Board approval to participate in a cooperative bid for IBM Hardware and Software coordinated through BOCES. The Board approved this resolution.

The Board was asked to accept the job description for Teacher Aide. Jay Schwartz recommended a slight change in the performance responsibilities and to this, Board member Thomas Nagle cautioned the Board that they would be on "very thin ice" if they proceeded on this personnel matter at a public session. Therefore, the Board departed from the meeting and convened in executive session before coming back to the conference room, and finally accepting the job description by a 4-3 vote.

In Dr. Fenton's monthly report, she clarified for the Board certain aspects of the management letter from the auditors and outlined some changes which were made in the business office. She stated that the district has always sought and welcomed recommendations made by their auditors and the district has proceeded to make a system of checks and balances to facilitate day-to-day operations.

The next regular meeting of the Board will take place on Wednesday, November 20, at 8:15 p.m. in the conference room of the Administration Building.

Oct. Happenings At Old Country Rd.

O.C.R. Goes to the Opera

The students in the first through fifth grades in Old Country Road School went to see the opera, "The Debut of Puce Catooze" held at the Hicksville High School on October 22. This event was sponsored by the Hicksville School District.

This opera was presented by professional actors. The opera is designed to show youthful audiences that opera can be fun and interesting to watch. The students are exposed to music composed by greats such as Mozart, Verdi and Bizet.

A few opinions expressed by students from the fifth grade were: Jackie DePalma - The costumes were beautiful, the acting fantastic, they must have practiced a lot. She felt the singing was magnificent. She liked the orchestra with their soft and loud music. She thought the story was interesting. Brian Reilly thought the opera was terrific, the orchestra was excellent, the acting was magnificent, the singing was marvelous. He found operas most interesting.

Dennis Sneek thought the opera was fantastic and had a lot of excitement too. The costumes were beautiful. He especially liked the singing and the orchestra. Dennis thought they gave a very good performance.

A Special Dinner

A special retirement dinner was held for Ida Buckstein, secretary of Old Country Road School.

Amid the congratulations were tears of farewell.

Ida Buckstein was employed by the Hicksville School District for 25 years, she has been with Old Country Road for 7 years.

The dinner was held at the Maine Maid Inn in Jericho. All the school district employees were invited to attend. Among the honored guests were Mr. Penque, former principal of O.C.R. and Dr. McCann, principal of O.C.R. Also in attendance were many teachers and secretaries all of whom have enjoyed a close relationship with Mrs. Buckstein.

Mrs. Buckstein was presented with a plaque commemorating her 25 years of service to the school district and a photograph album of different events that have taken place over the years, with a special section of pictures of her retirement dinner.

Mrs. Buckstein and her husband, Jerry will retire to their new home in Florida and with her goes all our best wishes.

A Trip to the Pond

In late September, Dr. McCann Principal of O.C.R. School accompanied the fourth grade classes of Mr. Doberman, Mrs. Rodrigues and Mrs. Green to Caumsette Pond in Lloyd Harbor.

There the students studied pond life and took samples back to the school to study their "pond life" under a microscope.

Michele Aldorosis was concerned because of the log that had to be crossed over the stream. She stated if you fell in "too bad". No one fell in and everyone had a great time. She enjoys studying "our animals" in the science room.

Scott Gilmor enjoyed the trip but really enjoys studying the small animals, insects and microorganisms they can see under the microscope the best. He is absolutely fascinated about how fast these "little creatures" grow.

WHILE most people do not think that there will be many changes in local elections, watching the judgeships may prove a few new points. The problem is one for the Democrats. There is no cross endorsement with Republicans. There are some local judge candidates who are up for election who are forced to try to make it without cross endorsements. Harold Fertig of Syosset, after 12 years on Dist. court is seeking a state supreme court post. He has Democratic and the small Liberal party endorsement. Mike Steinberg of Jericho is looking to go up to Supreme Court but he also has only Democrat-Liberal endorsement. . . . REPUBLICANS of course, have Ralph Diamond, who is a supervising judge in Family Court. He is running again as an incumbent with Republican, Conservative and Liberal endorsement. When you are in the major party there is little risk) . . . THERE were so -w tickets printed for the Hicksville Junior High School Halloween dance that there were reports of scalping going on. . . . New Hearing Date Set By Town Bd.

The Oyster Bay Town Board has scheduled a new public hearing date of Tuesday, December 17 to consider a request for a special use permit to operate a van and auto refurbishing business in Hicksville, according to Town Councilman Thomas L. Clark.

"The Town Board had originally scheduled a hearing for Tuesday, October 8, on an application from Dawn Industries Inc. and Frank J. Antun Properties, Inc., for a special use permit to operate a business that will include the refurbishing of vans and motor vehicles, installation of sun roofs, 4-wheel conversions, and retail sale of automotive accessories in a 'G' general business district in Hicksville," Clark stated. "At the request of the applicant's attorney, the October 8 hearing was postponed. The Board has set a new hearing date of December 17 at 10 a.m. in the hearing room of Town Hall East, Audrey Avenue, Oyster Bay."

Clark noted that the subject property is located on the north side of Old Country Road approximately 690 feet west of Newbridge Road in Hicksville.

Bd. Of Ed. Committee Mtgs.

Two Hicksville Board of Education committees are scheduled to meet on Wednesday, November 6.

The District Facilities/Community Affairs Committee chaired by Daniel C. MacBride will address school vandalism, damage from Hurricane Gloria, and security provisions for computer equipment. Other items on the agenda include the status of the Vietnam/Korean Monument, a progress report on telephone installation in the Administration Building, a status report on insurance costs, and the dedication of the Hall of Fame set for November 24.

The Curriculum Committee chaired by Jay M. Schwartz and Arlene J. Rudin will review curriculum projects completed during the summer. These include interdisciplinary and In-Depth Studies curricula on the elementary level and four units written for the Junior High Gifted and Talented program.

The meetings will begin at 8:15 p.m. at the Administration Building. Interested residents are warmly invited to join committee members in participating in these important sessions.

Library Offers Various Displays

The Hicksville Public Library will display Arts and Crafts made by the Library Staff in the Lobby Showcase. The Fiction Room Showcase will have an exhibit by the Gregory Museum. In the Community Room, the Independent Art Society will hold their 10th Annual Fall Open Juried Art Show, November 3 through the 17.

Library open November 5, Election Day 10 a.m.-5 p.m. No Evening Hours.

Oyster Bay Town Councilmen Kenneth S. Diamond, left, Thomas L. Clark, right, and Angelo A. Dellgatti, were on hand to present trophies to winners of the Hicksville Fire Department's annual Fire Prevention Poster Contest. Proudly accepting their prizes are John Bonkas, 2nd place winner in the kindergarten category, and Kristen Adams, 3rd place winner in the kindergarten category. Both are from Woodland Avenue School. Dellgatti and Ex-Chief John Specht hold the prize-winning entries.

VFW Post Gives Talk On Roosevelt

Members of the Color Guard Post 3211 V.F.W., Hicksville, Ed Kleniewski, left, and Mike Tisdell, right, at foot of grave as Captain Leo Bard, U.S.N., addresses a delegation of the various veteran organizations from Nassau County and two bus loads of students from the Theodore Roosevelt Elementary School in Oyster Bay. The celebration was to honor President Theodore Roosevelt's 127th Anniversary of his birth.

Students from the Theodore Roosevelt Elementary School in Oyster Bay lay their carnations at foot of our 26th President, Theodore Roosevelt's grave.

The Mid-Island YM-YWHA (Plainview) will hold an open house Election Day Party Nov. 5 for Business and Professional Singles (35-48) at the "Y", 45 Manetto Hill Road.

The gathering will permit those attending to discuss election results and issues in addition to "networking" among other business persons and professionals. The party will be from 8 to 11 p.m.

This is another in the extensive programs for singles conducted by the Mid-Island YM-YWHA, which has numerous groups meeting regularly and involved in a variety of social activities outside the facility.

Cost for the Election Day Party is $4. for members, $5. for non-members.

Esther Marks (Levittown) and Michelle Miller (Plainview) will represent the Mid-Island YM-YWHA on the "Ruth Jacobs Home Show" Nov. 20 at 1 p.m. on WEVD Radio.

Mrs. Marks, who is the "Y" Children and Youth Services Director, and Ms. Miller will discuss last summer's "Experience in Israel," shared by 46 teenagers, 15-18, for six weeks.

The two women will recount the various adventures encountered by those taking the tour and relate the significance that many found in their Summer Israel Experience.

They will also discuss plans for a similar trip that is being planned for the Summer of 1986.

Those interested in further information about visiting Israel as part of the Mid-Island YM-YWHA's program, should call Mrs. Marks at (516) 822-3535.

Proudly Paid For By Citizens to Elect Thomas S. Gulotta

H.H.S. Swimming

The Hicksville girls placed fourth at the annual Long Island Coaches High School Invitational Meet held at Nassau Community College on October 12.

Points were scored by the Medley Relay of Lorna Mund, Jeannine Sirey, Kristin Mund and Gina Cusumano who broke their own record. Lorna was the only double winner of the meet, clinching both the 200 free and the 100 back. Kristin Mund won the 500 free, breaking her own school record and was second in the 100 fly. Jeannine finished a very close second in the 200 IM and her second place win in the 100 breast also broke her own record. Points were also scored by Karen Karrmann who gave her best performances in the 200 and 500 free, Karen Kratochvil, Linda Cusumano, Helen Wittik, Jennifer Brehnan, Beth Walsh and Gina Cusumano.

Hicksville Swimmers Win One, Lose One, Again

For the second time the Hicksville High School Swim team won one meet and lost one during the league competition.

The swimming against Farmingdale was excellent with the Medley Relay of Karen Kratochvil, Jeannine Sirey, Kristin Mund and Beth Walsh winning their event. Individual firsts were scored by Lorna Mund in the 100 back and the 200 IM, Jeannine Sirey in the 200 free and the 100 breast and Kristin Mund in the 100 fly and the 500 free. The free relay of Karen Karrmann, Diane Buys, Gina Cusumano and Lorna Mund was second. Third place finishers were Karen Karrmann in the 200 free, Gina Cusumano in the 50 and 100 free and Francesca Bear in the diving.

The meet against Uniondale, a decisive win, gave opportunities for the newer swimmers to score. Sheri Howell, who is swimming her first season with the team, was first in the 200 IM and the 100 back. Karen Kratochvil was first in the 200 and 500 free. Tara Hooper and Cynthia Gaylord and Polly Elkins, seventh graders all placed third. Deanna Pitta was third in the 500 free, which she swam for the first time, and the 50 free. In addition, Gina Cusumano was second in the 100 free and Helen Wittik was first in the 100 breast. Placing first were the Medley Relay and the Free Relay, Lorna Mund in the 100 free, Kristin Mund in the 100 fly, Jeannine Sirey in the 50 free and Karen Karrmann in the 200 free.

Troop 3186 Goes Camping

(Story and photos by A. Eichenauer)

This past weekend all the Brownies from Troop 3186 of Fork Lane School, went away on their first camping trip to the Great Neck Camp House. All the girls were really excited about it and so were the leaders, Mrs. Maureen Traxler and Mrs. Annette Eichenauer.

The Brownies really found out that sleeping in a sleeping bag on a hard wood floor is not at all like being home in a nice soft bed.

The entire weekend was planned by the girls, they also planned the menus and helped to prepare each meal. We split the girls up into patrols so that they would all get a turn to do K.P., be hostess, clean up, etc.

Both leaders and all the Brownies would like to give a big thank you to Mrs. Ginny Romano and Mrs. Bobbie Beck for all the help they gave us, and the time they gave up to stay with the girls the entire weekend.

Our girls are really looking forward to going camping again, only this time it will be outdoors.

Tools Recovered After Burglary

A burglary investigation conducted by Second Squad detective Sal Marino led to the arrest of Edward Crow, 25, of 91 Woodbury Road, Hicksville on October 26, at 12:30 a.m. in Bethpage and full recovery of approximately $28,000 in mechanic's tools in a three section tool box.

The burglary occurred at 2 a.m. on October 25 at J and P Auto Repair, 95 Woodbury Road, Hicksville in which the tools were stolen. The subject will be arraigned in the morning at First District Court, Mineola.

Red glass named for Mary Gregory?

By James G. McCollam

Q. This bottle and jar are deep red glass with raised white figures. The pontil marks on the bottoms would indicate that these are blown glass.

What can you tell me about their origin, vintage and value?

A. This is called Mary Gregory Glass. According to legend, there was a worker at Boston and Sandwich Glass Co. named Mary Gregory who developed this type glass. There is no factual evidence to support this story.

These were made in the late 19th century. The bottle would be worth about $125 — more if it had a stopper. The jar would be worth at least $75.

Q. I have a very ornate porcelain pitcher or tankard. It is 14 inches tall and decorated with poinsettias.

I am enclosing a sketch of the mark on the bottom. I have researched this mark for years, but have not discovered who used it.

Can you tell me who made my tankard and how much it might sell for?

A. This mark was used briefly in the 1860s by Erdmann Schlegelmilch. His more familiar mark is "RS Prussia." Schlegelmilch operated a plant in Suhl, Germany.

Your tankard would sell for about $800 to $900 in good condition.

Q. Recently I have run across items at antique shows marked "Made in Occupied Japan." Are these more valuable than pieces marked, "Made in Japan"?

A. The "Occupied Japan" period was from 1946 to 1952, the years the United States maintained a military government in Japan. Items made during this time are not more valuable than those marked, "Made in Japan." This mark was used from 1921 to 1941 and from 1952 to the present.

Some collectors like to specialize in "Occupied Japan" collectibles and prices are controlled largely by quality. At the top of the field are well-made, hand-painted porcelain figurines. Many of these are selling in the $50 to $100 range and will increase rapidly in value.

Send your questions about antiques with picture(s), a detailed description, stamped, self-addressed envelope, and $1 per item to James G. McCollam.

McCollam is a member of the Antique Appraisers Association of America.

Hicksville Public Library will present a Microwave Cooking demonstration in the Community Room on Wednesday, November 6, at 12 noon-2 p.m. Adult microwave cooking. Hicksville residents only. Registration is limited, register early.

Oyster Bay Town Supervisor Joseph Colby chats with the Most Reverend John McGann, Catholic Bishop of the Diocese of Rockville Centre, who was the guest speaker at a recent program hosted by the Manetto Hill Jewish Center in Plainview. The program focused on the positive changes the Second Vatican Council generated between Catholics and Jews and examined the concerns and challenges which still remain. The program also included a tour of the synagogue conducted by Rabbi Gary G. Ferras and a musical presentation on the theme of brotherhood and peace.

Jr. Troop 3001 Holds Investiture

Monday night, October 28, at 7:30 p.m. Junior Troop 3001 of Fork Lane School held the most important event in Scouting, they had six girls Invested into the troop.

This ceremony is special because each girl who takes part in it takes on all the responsibility of being a Girl Scout.

Each of the following girls received the Girl Scout Pin and a Investiture Certificate: Mary Rafie, Kim Peters, Jennifer Peters, April Rodriguez, Tony Focarile and Kathleen O'Brien.

Troop leaders Mrs. Marcia Gunnigle and Mrs. Sharon Fusco explained to the invited guests what it meant for them to be leaders in Scouting. Mrs. Gunnigle and her husband Dennis just completed a camping course over the weekend, and both leaders passed the First Aid Course and received their First Aid Cards.

Mrs. Gunnigle told the guests that her troop took part in helping with the Games for the Physically Challenged Children on August 4. The girls helped by handing out programs and distributing box lunches. The girls also helped with the Long Island Games for Seniors on October 19.

The future holds a lot more fun and excitement for this troop. This Thursday, October 31, they will have a Halloween Party in Fork Lane School, on November 16, they are going to the Great Neck Camp House for a fun filled camping weekend.

Mrs. Gunnigle had the girls light candles and say the promise and the Girl Scout Laws as they rededicated themselves to Girl Scouts.

Mrs. Fusco handed out Badges to some of the girls in the troop that had worked hard all summer long to complete them. They are: Jackie Antonacci received 5, Wendy Fusco received 11 and Vickie Gunnigle received 6.

The ceremony closed with inviting all the parents and guests to join the girls around a camp fire to sing "Yankee Doodle" and a favorite camping tune "Chi-Chi-Cha-Chi".

There is no award given to all the leaders who devote so much of their time and themselves to Scouting. The only reward they need to keep them going is that one child who takes advantage of all that was given.

Two Celebrate 100th Birthdays

United Presbyterian Home at Syosset, Inc. 378 Syosset-Woodbury Road hosted a special party to honor two residents who celebrated their 100th birthday this year on Wednesday, October 23. The ladies are: Mrs. Elsie E. Mott and Mrs. Luise Zierenberg.

All residents 95 years and over including a 107 and 108 year old joined in the celebration with Mrs. Mott and Mrs. Zierenberg.

Art League Concludes Prog.

The panel participants will be Stan Brodsky, a Professor of Art at C.W. Post College and nationally known artist and an author, who will define the abstract non-objective position, and Isidore Margulies, a Fellow of the National Sculpture Society and winner of many awards including the Gold Medal of the National Sculpture Society, who will articulate the traditional representational viewpoint. Program moderator will be Tim O'Brien who is a professional photographer, writer, and lecturer and specialist on the art and architecture on Long Island.

Teachers Picket Bd. For Contract Negotiation

Special to Bethpage Newgram
By Maureen Traxler

The placards read: Contract Now - Bethpage Congress of Teachers. Union members manned the picket lines, as the Bethpage School Board gathered inside the high school auditorium to begin its October 29 regular meeting. The audience swelled to more than double the September Board meeting as contract negotiations drag on.

BCT President Mike Spinella challenged the Board on its letter of September 27 to the parents of Bethpage students. Point by point, he took issue with the Board's statements.

To begin, Mr. Spinella remarked that he was available for summer negotiations, and he charged that the Board had not given its negotiator, Al DeMaria, enough to negotiate with.

Mr. Spinella said other school boards have settled with a 22% salary increase without increments over a three year contract, whereas the Bethpage School Board is only offering 17%. With respect to leaves of absence, he claimed that many teachers end up losing benefits. He called the Board's dental plan proposal non-existent, since the Board does not as yet have a carrier. He reminded the Board that most districts fully pay for hospital benefits, and in Bethpage the costs are shared with the teachers. Another contention was that no improvements have been made in in-service programs.

Mr. Spinella charged the Board with "misinforming the community", and formally invited to Board to the next session to be held on Thursday, October 31 to negotiate throughout the night if necessary.

Board President Anthony Cotton accepted Mr. Spinella's invitation, and said he will personally be there at 8 p.m. and will be prepared to "negotiate throughout the weekend".

As head of the Board's negotiating team, Mr. DeMaria pleaded with the union members to "keep your minds open". Not excusing his own actions, Mr. DeMaria said he was working behind the scenes during the summer and sent the Board two comprehensive memoranda. He said that as in any employer/employee wage negotiations, the employee is the person who calls for the meeting. He said he was not pressed by the union to negotiate.

With regard to the dental plan, Mr. DeMaria stated that although the Board has not as yet identified a carrier, if the proposal is accepted by the union, the Board will guarantee all benefits. He requested that the Teacher Union President furnish the Board with a copy of his presentation, and they will answer his charges, item by item, promptly with full explanation.

One resident asked what the monetary impact on the community would be upon acceptance of a contract. Mr. DeMaria explained that at this time, there is a one million dollar separation in first year costs between the packages presented by each side. He noted that some of these costs may even spill over into the second year of the contract.

A top priority on the agenda was the acceptance of a resolution on the Bloomingdale School property. Board President Cotton said the Board is now passing title of the property to the new owner and that this action is the conclusion of the contract with the buyer. Razing of the building is expected to take place within a short time.

Asked by a resident about the possibility of having the new owner exterminate to rid the area of the mice problem being experienced lately, Board Attorney Louis Orfan explained that this is not part of the contract. He assured all concerned that the Board could and would request of the new owners that they do this as a service to the nearby residents.

School Superintendent John Sommi made a presentation to the Board calling for residents to serve on a Citizens Advisory Committee on Long Range Planning. The Committee would be charged with submitting to the Board by September 30, 1986, comprehensive recommendations for the continued use or closing of specific district facilities over the next ten years. He said the committee would base its recommendations on needs for building repairs and updating, current pupil capacity ratios by building based on educational practices and the need for restructuring the district grade level organization patterns.

He strongly urged residents to become members of this and other Board committees to insure that all points of view receive consideration on these most important decisions facing the community.

The other Board committees now forming involve budget, buildings and grounds, and cafeteria-related matters. Any interested resident may contact a Board member or Dr. Sommi's office.

Other resident concerns included the continuing problems of insufficient security and loitering by youngsters at the Central Boulevard School. President Cotton noted that the Board has intensified security during the evenings and has had personnel there when scouts dismiss to see to the safety of the youngsters. The Board will continue to pursue this matter, especially with Halloween forthcoming.

Another resident asked the Board why the district has not gone to full-day kindergarten as so many districts have done in Nassau County, and what would have to be done to accomplish this. Dr. Sommi answered that determination of desirability and suitability has to be made, space and staffing has to be considered and funds have to be included in the budget. He urged any interested parents to stay in touch with his office and present their views on this matter.

Additional Board items included the acceptance of the 1984-85 school auditor's report, the changing of the title of supervisor of pupil personnel to Director of Pupil Personnel Services, and the creation of the position of Director of Facilities and Operations, which is an approved Nassau County civil service title.

The next regular meeting of the School Board will be held on Tuesday, November 26, at 8 p.m. in the Administration Building.

Business Club Begins For Students

"Juniors Scrambling for Cash" is a business club just formed by the students of the PREP class at the Hicksville Junior High. It aims to enhance the students self-esteem while forging a bond between the community and the students. Our young people will be studying and surveying Hicksville's history and needs in an effort to provide services for its residents.

Their first business venture was cleaning up after hurricane Gloria. Several homeowners welcomed the help in raking and bagging the debris left behind. This Saturday, November 2, is the date for the club's second project, a combined car wash and bake sale. Through the hospitality of Greg and Rich Manelski it is being held in Chroma Paints' parking lot, and will run from 9 a.m. - 3 p.m. Other upcoming club activities will be: 1) complete children's birthday party service; 2) tutoring elementary school children; 3) raking and snow removal; 4) senior citizen aids.

Teachers Mike Scheck and Patricia Faherty are providing classroom instruction under the direction of Chuck Wayne in various business related subjects. Lois Glanzer, the attendance teacher; and Cindy Soza, the employment coordinator at the Hicksville Youth Council are acting as advisors and supervisors to the group and its activities. The business club members are Brian McKibben, President; Mary Salerno, Vice President; Dawn Allico, Secretary; Kim DeCicco, Treasurer; Ralph Samuels, Salesman and Spokesman; Lisa Dykman, Publicity; Jason Turno, Equipment Head; Glen Holm, Asst. Treasurer and Record Keeper; Deanna Doty, Asst. Equipment and Publicity.

This junior business club is anxious to earn money for educational purposes. They invite your participation in any of their services, and look forward to meeting you at their 1st Car Wash/Bake Sale this Saturday. You can contact them by calling the Youth Council at 822-7594. The Council's hours are Monday through Thursday, 10 a.m.-9 p.m. and Friday, 10 a.m.-6 p.m.

Action Group Supports Lerner

Allan Lerner, a candidate for Town Council in the Town of Oyster Bay, has gained the endorsement of a community organization which praised his position on environmental and utility rate issues.

"Allan Lerner has taken a strong leadership role in the community for the cleanup of cancer-causing toxic chemical dump sites," according to a statement by the political action committee of the New York Community Action Network.

"Our families' health is directly threatened by the several toxic chemical dumps in the Town of Oyster Bay," the endorsement statement said. "Allan Lerner has an enviable record of fighting to protect our health and to make sure toxic polluters pay for cleanup costs." The group notes that several federal priority toxic dump sites are located in the Town of Oyster Bay, including the Old Bethpage landfill, Hooker Chemical and Anchor Chemical in Hicksville, Liberty Industrial in Farmingdale, Syosset landfill, and Claremont Polychemical in Old Bethpage.

"We also endorse Allan Lerner for Town of Oyster Bay Council because he has pledged to take action to correct the problems of LILCO's high rates and mismanagement," the statement continued. "He will take steps to explore non-profit public power alternatives to LILCO."

Church Of Christ Renewal Weekend

The freshest water is in danger of drying up or stagnating after a while. The softest bread can grow stale and hard. Even a deep faith and sparkling Christianity can tire and weaken.

That's why there's Renewal Weekend! It's a weekend program that's guaranteed to refresh all believers.

Steve and Carrie Graham from Cincinnati, Ohio will lead Renewal Weekend, November 8 through 10. Steve is a professor of Practical Ministries and Church Growth at Cincinnati Christian Seminary. Both he and his wife will direct the Weekend in the theme: "Prayer--Tapping God's Power for a Growing Church."

Renewal Weekend is open to the community. We invite you to participate in all of the activities including the following:

* Friday, November 8, 7 p.m. service: "The Purpose of Prayer"

* Saturday, November 9, 7 p.m. service: "Have You Told Him Lately That You Love Him?"

* Sunday, November 10, 11 a.m. service: "Lifting Weights"

* Sunday, November 10, 7 p.m. service: "God's C.P.R."

A staffed nursery will be provided for all services. Refreshments will also be served following the Sunday evening service.

JDA Means Jobs!

VOTE "YES"
PROPOSAL NO. 1
NOV. 5th

What is JDA?

- JDA is a public benefit corporation created with the approval of the voters of New York State in 1961.
- JDA makes loans primarily to small businesses in New York with fewer than 100 employees. These loans help them retain and create jobs in your community. Only 9 percent of all loans have gone to companies which employ more than 200 workers.
- JDA is self-supporting. It sells bonds on the private market to raise the capital for its loans. The loans are repaid by the borrowing businesses the same as any loan.
- JDA means improvement of job opportunities in New York without costing the taxpayers a dime!
- JDA funded companies are located throughout New York State.

What Does JDA Mean to New York?

- JDA has provided low cost loans to companies employing more than 110,000 workers.
- These jobs have meant private-sector payrolls of more than $1.3 billion a year, and $106 million per year in state and local taxes.
- JDA loans, totaling $360 million, have produced $1.1 billion of private-sector investment in buildings, and in machinery and equipment.

What is Proposal No. 1?

Proposal Number One is a Constitutional Amendment on the ballot which allows JDA, at no cost to taxpayers:

- 1) to double its present bonding limit from $300 million to $600 million;
- 2) to increase JDA's participation in any job creation project from 40% to 60% of financing.

The proposal will enable JDA to expand and intensify its efforts to assist business and industry in retaining and creating jobs, all without involving the taxpayers' money.

THE QUESTION OF THE WEEK

Will the disarmament talks between the U.S. and Russia have any beneficial effect?

PRESIDENT REAGAN REHEARSES FOR A POSSIBLE SUMMIT WITH THE SOVIETS:

Call 931-0027 24 Hrs. a Day
Ground Rules
You are not limited to the above but may talk on any subject of interest to readers.

•One subject to a caller per week•

Simply dial 931-0027 - 24 Hours a Day and follow these simple rules:

1. Wait for the beep.
2. Confine your INPUT to one subject.
3. Limit your opinion to five minutes (make notes before calling)
4. Leave your name and telephone, or simply use a pen name. (Your message can be anonymous)
5. Publishers reserve the right to edit, modify or omit any and all material.

Most Callers To Input Favor LILCO Picking Up Gloria Cost

Most callers to Input were not complimentary to LILCO. The majority said that the company should pay all or most of the cost of Hurricane Gloria damage in answer to this question: Should the rate payers have to pick up the cost of Hurricane Gloria for LILCO? Here are some of the answers:

MOSTLY LILCO AT FAULTY

No. I do not think that the rate payers should pay much of the cost of the hurricane. What we had in evidence was the decaying Long Island Lighting Company which was caught short in its planning. The company should have, for one thing, been setting aside a certain amount for insurance but instead it has gone to the limit of its resources to get Shoreham going. I am not that much against Shoreham but I cannot see how you can run an electric company and sacrifice the regular service. J.L.

AVERAGE STORM

I think that the rate payer should only have to pick up what the average storm damage would have been if the company was doing a good job in its everyday maintenance. The state was critical of the work that LILCO had been doing to maintain service. The company has used its regular storm fund for other purposes. The stockholders made bum decisions and they should have to pay. E.T.

PURE POLITICS

We can't blame LILCO for the storm and it is pure politics to try to pin it on LILCO. It is a way that the public power company lobby can get a foot in the door and feed people something they will not want after they get it. If the politicians run the power company it will be like the MTA, not better but worse than under private ownership. How much fault LILCO had in not getting power on quickly should be left to an independent group to study. B.F.

ONE HALF

The rate payer should only have to pay about one half of the costs of the hurricane. The rest of the cost was in installing poles and cables that were ready to be replaced anyway. If LILCO can now put on to the public the cost of regular maintenance while charging for it already in their bills then they will profit from the storm. G.L.

BAD MAINTENANCE

It is not easy for ordinary people to decide how good or bad LILCO is. We only know by what we are told. And from what we have been told LILCO had neglected the maintenance job for some time. If this is the case then the cost should be borne by the company to make up for what it did not do up until now. M.T.

ACT OF GOD

As a senior citizen and shareholder in LILCO (hoping to receive a fair return from my hard earned investment, only to find no dividend and stock cut more than in half) - don't blame LILCO for an act of God called Gloria. During my 40 years on Long Island when I flipped a switch, a got light and heat. Let Shoreham open and see rates go down. E.J.K.

LOGIC SHOULD PREVAIL

Somewhere, sometime, the answer to this question must have already been given. Hurricanes have wrought their damage on power companies before and I doubt very much whether my opinion would have any effect on the method of cost distribution as a result of Gloria's visit. I would think that logic should prevail in fairness to the legal position of everyone involved. Firstly, as an act of God, if the damage is of sufficient severity to warrant government financial help as a disaster, then the power company, like any other involved individual or corporation, should be given financial relief and to the same extent. After that or lacking such assistance, any net costs from the occurrence should come out of operating profits and in that sense, be reflected in the profit and loss position of the company and therefore a responsibility of the shareholders. Finally, insofar as management performance is given consideration by the state authorities in approving rate increases, operating losses should probably be included only to the extent of the effect of normal economic factors and the efficiency of their control. Hence, abnormal costs resulting from disaster occurrences should not be included for that purpose. P.G.S.

OTHER ISSUES

HIJACKING

I think that President Reagan chose the correct course of action. Those individuals involved in Klinghoffer's cruel murder should be brought to justice. Every effort should be made in the future to apprehend others guilty of crimes. It is good to know that the Leon Klinghoffer Memorial Fund has been established in order to fight terrorism. The heartless and barbarous acts of terrorists must not and cannot be tolerated. C.P.

AGAINST TERRORISM

In my opinion, President Reagan did a most wonderful thing when he gave the order to intercept the plane with the terrorists aboard. This should be followed by more acts of this type against terrorism. These people are nothing but criminals and should be treated as such.

DISCOVERY

Postmaster Abraham Lincoln

By Dr. Arthur A. Delaney

There was a small post office in the village of New Salem, Illinois that existed but seven years during the 19th century. It enjoyed a significant claim to fame, however, for its postmaster was one Abraham Lincoln, the only postmaster ever to become president. This was Lincoln's first experience with public office. Through the help of sympathetic friends and after having held several unsuccessful jobs, he was appointed to the post on May 7, 1833, for as he recalled later, "the office being too insignificant to make politics an objection." It was Old Hickory, President Jackson, who signed Lincoln's papers, despite the fact that the future president was a Whig at the time.

Postmaster Lincoln's salary aggregated about a dollar a week—in commissions on receipts! The receipts were kept in an old blue sock in a wooden chest under his bed where "he could keep an eye on them." When Lincoln left office, however, he had lost almost two-thirds of the receipts entrusted to him! On the other hand, it must also be said that Honest Abe did show a precise accounting for every penny entrusted to his care.

Between rounds, he would spend his spare time reading posted newspapers before delivering them. Lincoln was often disturbed if patrons called for their papers before he had a chance to peruse them himself. Despite this inconvenience, he became one of the best informed men in Illinois! It is from reading the press, a habit Lincoln continued throughout his life, that he learned how to interpret public opinion.

The postmaster's position was far from confining, and Lincoln supplemented his meager pay by taking on such odd jobs as mill work, rail splitting, surveying, and tending store for Samuel Hill. Surveying and mail delivery got Lincoln out into the countryside, and he came to know every settler in the area. Later, when he ran for the legislature, his newspaper reading along with personal contacts made him a most formidable candidate. According to William McElroy, a modern day postmaster at Springfield, Illinois, "There is no question but that Lincoln's experiences as postmaster at New Salem, in his early formative years, played a definite part in shaping the destinies of this great man."

Residents were required to call for their mail; rural home delivery was yet to be invented. However, Lincoln would extend himself to walk several miles to deliver letters that he knew were anxiously awaited. While strolling along, he would often recognize a patron, reach into his hat, and pull out a letter. This unusual "mail bag" gave rise to the colorful story that Lincoln kept his office in his hat.

At this time Lincoln was clerking in Sam Hill's store. He had to attend to postal duties at Hill's only long enough to receive and receipt the mail which arrived twice-weekly by post rider at first and by stage later. Since stamps and envelopes were not yet in use, Lincoln's principal task was to estimate the number of sheets that were folded and sealed with wax to form letter packets. He then simply penned the postal charge in the upper right hand corner of the outside sheet.

Lincoln also had to calculate the distance letters traveled from point of origin to New Salem. In the third decade of the nineteenth century the sender of a letter paid no postage, the recipient being required to bear all postal costs, and to the postmaster fell the responsibility of collecting "postage due". A one sheet letter cost six cents to travel the first thirty miles and ten cents for the next fifty miles. Frequently, Lincoln settled the question of rates by having the receiver break open his letter before the postmaster, the two of them then proceeding to count the number of pages! Some thirty years later, when Lincoln was president, he had introduced a number of postal innovations, which included universal letter rates regardless of distance and the free city delivery of mail.

The second Lincoln-Berry store.

Postage stamps came into use during the period between Lincoln's postmastership and his presidency. Perhaps thinking back to his days as a rural postmaster, President Lincoln once responded to a lady who begged for a sentiment and an autograph:

Dear Madam:

When you ask from a stranger that which is of interest only to yourself, always enclose a stamp. There's your sentiment and here's my autograph.

A. Lincoln

Lincoln consistently demonstrated a kindness and consideration for others that was to become a hallmark throughout his public life. As postmaster he was always anxious to please and accommodate. Lincoln has written that his postal "administration gave satisfaction". There were, however, many patrons who were aware that while Abe was honest, he was also frequently careless in his duties. George Spears was one such patron. One day Spears sent a messenger with money to pay postage on his newspaper and instructed the lad to obtain a receipt. This demand offended Lincoln, but he complied and included the following note:

Mr. Spears,

At your request I send you a receipt for the postage on your paper. I am somewhat surprised at your request. I will, however, comply with it. The law requires newspaper postage to be paid in advance and now that I have waited a full year you choose to wound my feelings by insinuating that unless you get a receipt, I will probably make you pay it again.

Respectfully,
A. Lincoln, P.M.

That Lincoln was culpably careless in matters of "housekeeping" and in the use of his franking privilege is testified to in one of the few existing Lincoln franked letters. As a matter of routine, an ante-bellum postmaster could send and receive letters free as a prerogative of his office. The franking of letters by the postmaster for someone else could incur a ten dollar fine, a far cry from today's "penalty for private use to avoid payment of postage, $300."

Occasionally, Lincoln ignored the franking regulation. Once he inscribed the outside letter sheet with "Free. A. Lincoln, P.M. New Salem Ill. Sept. 22". Part of this letter, sent by Matthew S. March to his brother in New Hampshire, provides an insight into Lincoln's performance as postmaster.

"The Post Master is very careless about leaving his office open and unlocked during the day—Half the time I go in and get my papers, etc. without any one being there as was the case yesterday. The letter was marked only 25 and even if he had been there and known it was double he would not charge me any more—luckily he is a very clever fellow and a particular friend of mine. If he is there when I carry this into the office—I will get him to 'Frank' it."

Somewhat paradoxically, the six years that Lincoln spent in New Salem almost completely encompass the town's brief history. The community was expanding and thriving when Lincoln arrived in 1831. But in 1839, just two years after he had left for Springfield to practice law and to move another step towards the immortality that awaited him, New Salem declined rapidly. Today among the recreations in the Lincoln's New Salem State Park one can visualize the life Lincoln led when he was the town's postmaster, the only position he held in the federal government other than the Presidency.

SUPERB SEAFOOD

Mahoney's Hillside Restaurant has been serving quality food for over thirty years. Their speciality is fresh seafood and I have always come away knowing that their seafood is superb. Last week we went there again for dinner as their soup and salad bar is always a delight. I had broiled lobster and my partner had the broiled scrod. Both dinners were beautifully prepared and delicious. I would heartily recommend this restaurant. Once you dine there I feel you will become a loyal patron. E.H.

READER RATINGS

BETTER PLACES

It had been several months since we visited Weigel's Place on Herricks Road, Mineola.

We were glad we came back. The restaurant has developed into one of the better places on Long Island for moderately well presented food. We had a first rate dinner there last week and we made haste to call in the fact that it was so good.

The service is courteous and prompt and the decor is clean and open. It makes you want to stay on as long as possible at the long wooden bar running down the side of the building.

Weigel's Place should be enjoyed by more people and we hope this will get in the paper to tell everyone about it. L.R.

YOU CAN BE A RESTAURANT CRITIC-If you visit any of the restaurants selected for inclusion in this section-call WE 1-0027 at any hour and tell your ideas. We want you, the reader, to be our critic. Your message then can be printed in this space.

Q. I thought it was standard fare to get at least two vegetables with an entree but last week at the (name omitted) restaurant we were charged extra for vegetables. Is this right?

A. A number of restaurants have changed to charging extra for vegetables, particularly fresh ones, but the safest way is to look at the menu and ask the waiter. Sometimes there are extra vegetables and they are the ones that are given an added charge. But there are some restaurants that charge for every item individually.

Q. In some very large restaurants there are some people to be tipped and I do not know which ones should be tipped. How can I tell?

A.C.
A. If you are just slightly observant when leaving an expensive restaurant you will notice the entire staff from the captain to the wine steward lining up to say good night to you. These are generally the ones who expect to be tipped and they do not generally share in the splitting of the regular tip. These people are usually given a single amount and it is not contingent on the regular 15-20 percent tip. However, most restaurants no longer have large staffs and you usually only pay the regular tip.

Q. I recently tried a new recipe for Southern Vegetable Stew that called for pieces of corn on the cob cut into big chunks. What is the proper way to eat corn? E.N.

A. Because it is so difficult to eat, I'm afraid I'd never make that stew. However, to eat the corn, you can insert a fork in one end of the cob and eat the kernels while holding the chunk with the fork. If necessary, support the other end of the cob with a finger of the other hand.

GREAT EXPERIENCE

We were pleasantly surprised with Gerlich's Restaurant in Glen Head last week. The restaurant is in a mansion setting with accompanying spacious garden grounds. We were especially thrilled with it at this time of year and on a nice day it is great.

The interior of Gerlich's is another fine experience. We were seated in the area they call the greenhouse and had a delicious meal. One dinner was a scrod and the other of roast beef. Both were delicious. In addition to the regular continental dishes we notice some fine German ones that undoubtedly are of good quality.

As a special attraction a pianist sings and plays tunes in a wonderful rollicking, but not disturbing way. A night at Gerlich's is an experience your readers should not miss.

Q. Should a wine glass be held by the stem or by the bowl? I have seen people do both.

J.S. A. Because it is precarious to hold a glass by a long stem, the wine glass is usually held by the bowl. However, if it contains champagne or a very cold white wine, you might grasp the stem just below so that your hands will not warm the wine.

Q. What do you do with your fork and knife when you've finished eating?

J.P. A. Place them side by side in the middle of your plate, the fork tines up or down, the knife to its right, sharp blade pointed inward toward the fork.

WONDERFUL CUISINE

Koenig's restaurant is one that defies time. It has been around for a long time but every time we go there we are well satisfied with the wonderful continental cuisine.

Koenig's is a place of good decor and it is a very comfortable restaurant. The establishment caters to large parties but if you come there with just two people, as we did, you are made welcome. The menu includes beef, chicken and veal and there is a large assortment of fish dishes. The prime ribs we chose were great and we think Koenig's in Floral Park is No. 1. Y.T.

HAPPY CHOICE

We have found the Alpine Garden Restaurant on Hempstead Turnpike in Franklin Square a happy choice. Whether it is Austrian, Italian or French cuisine, you will be pleased with the specialties from the Alpine region. We have known the chef, owner, Franz, and his wife, Anna, for many years and find the warm welcome as well as the food excellent. The atmosphere is that of a garden and the ambience is cordial and not the least bit hurried. For a restful dinner away from home we endorse this restaurant both for good food and a delightful atmosphere. M.M.

ONE OF THE BEST
LaMarmite is one of the best restaurants that we have ever been to, yet there is not much publicity about it. This old mansion, located on Hillside Avenue, Williston Park, is a great place for fine food and exceptionally good service.

We have gone there several times and always found such entrees as filet mignon, fillet of sole and many types of fish were prepared in the most delicious style. Granted one reason LaMarmite has wonderful food is because they use the freshest but the cooks still deserve praise for the splendid job they do.

The prices are slightly higher than at regular restaurants but it is well worth it for us to have a truly enjoyable meal. We recommend LaMarmite.

FINE SETTING

The Maine Maid is the place to go for a restaurant in a fine traditional setting. The Maine Maid is an old Quaker House. In fact, the owner told us that it is a owner landmark. But the decor is restful and elegant and the service is good. The food consists of well prepared meats and fish. Some of them are prepared right at your table. Tell your readers to try it and they will be glad for the suggestion. Toby C.

LIVE RESTAURANT

Let's hear it for Riddles. This is a place that is alive and jumping. It caters to all ages and is a great "social club". But don't be surprised at the good food there. We had heard about it from friends and went for the early bird Veal Francese special which included salad and potato all for $6.95.

Riddles is a great addition to the Old Country Road skyline.

We forgot to mention that they have live dancing and free hors d'oeuvres in the bar. H.E.

Soybeans come out from hiding

Americans consume 1 billion pounds of soybeans a year and most of the time aren't aware they're eating soybeans. Soybeans are used in more than 1,000 processed foods.

But soybeans don't have to be disguised. They come out from hiding in the following recipes.

But, first, here's how to cook dry soybeans:

Soybeans may be found in a variety of ways — fresh green, canned green or yellow dried mature beans.

The fresh green soybeans, which are high in vitamin C, should be shelled before cooking. Cover with boiling water and let stand 5 minutes. Cool and drain; break pods in half and squeeze out the beans. To cook, add 1 cup boiling water to 2 cups soybeans, return to boil and simmer 10 to 20 minutes or until tender. Beans should be used within one week after cooking.

Blanching the green soybeans (bring to a rapid boil, hold 2 to 3 minutes, cool immediately) and freezing up to three weeks results in minimal vitamin C losses.

The green soybeans can be used as a side vegetable, with a taste similar to split peas. Try them with a cream sauce or with bits of cooked bacon.

Yellow dried mature beans can be used the same as any dry bean. However, soybeans take a bit longer to cook than the other beans. Below are three ways to cook soybeans. Choose the one that best suits your needs.

— One cup soybeans to 3 to 4 cups water. Cover, bring to a boil for 2 to 3 minutes, remove from heat; store overnight in refrigerator and finish by simmering 1 to 2 hours the next day.

— One cup soybeans to 3 to 4 cups water. Cover, bring to a boil; boil rapidly 2 to 3 minutes. Remove from heat for 1 hour; add 1 teaspoon salt and other seasonings such as onion, brown sugar or molasses, mustard and flour. Simmer an additional 1 to 2 hours. The texture will be crunchier than other beans.

— For softer soybeans, use a pressure cooker. Be sure to read the instructions on your cooker. Do not fill the cooker more than one-third full to allow venting. Cook at 15 pounds pressure for 30 minutes. Cool under water before removing lid from cooker. Cook with ham or chili meat and chili seasonings.

BEANS AND RICE

- 1 cup dry soybeans
- 3 slices bacon, diced
- 1/2 cup chopped onion
- 5 cups water
- 1 clove garlic, minced
- 1/4-1/2 tsp. hot pepper sauce
- 1/4 tsp. thyme
- 1/4 tsp. rosemary

- 1 1/4 tsps. salt
- 1/4 tsp. pepper
- 1 cup uncooked rice

Soak soybeans overnight in 3 cups of water. In large kettle, fry bacon until crisp, and then remove and reserve bacon bits. Add onion to bacon fat and cook until onion is soft. Add water, garlic, pepper sauce, thyme, rosemary, salt and pepper to onion, and bring mixture to boil. Drain soaked soybeans and add to boiling mixture. Lower heat and simmer, partially covered, for 2 hours.

Add rice and cook, covered, for 30 minutes more or until soybeans and rice are tender. If necessary, add more water. Just before serving, stir in bacon bits and add additional salt and pepper to taste. Garnish with fresh chopped tomato and chopped parsley, if desired. Makes 5 servings

FOUR BEAN SALAD

- 1 (1 lb.) can red kidney beans, drained
- 1 (1 lb.) can cut wax beans, drained
- 1 (1 lb.) can cut green beans, drained
- 2 cups cooked dry soybeans, drained
- 1 medium green pepper, chopped
- 1 medium onion, thinly sliced and separated into rings
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 1/2 cup vinegar
- 1/2 cup salad oil
- 2 tbsps. chopped parsley
- 1 tsp. salt
- 1/4 tsp. dry mustard
- 1/2 tsp. dried tarragon leaves, crushed
- 1/2 tsp. dried basil leaves, crushed

Combine beans, pepper and onion in bowl. In separate bowl, thoroughly mix together sugar, vinegar, oil, parsley, salt, mustard, tarragon and basil. Pour dressing mixture over vegetables and stir. Cover salad and chill thoroughly. Stir salad occasionally during chilling. Just before serving, stir again. Drain. Makes 8 servings

SOYBEAN CHILI

- 1/2 lb. ground beef
- 2 tsps. salt
- 2 tbsps. chopped onion
- 2-3 tsps. chili powder
- 3/4 cups canned tomatoes, chopped
- 1 (6 oz.) can tomato paste
- 1 tsp. sugar
- 2 cups cooked dry soybeans, drained

Brown meat with salt in large saucepan. Add onion, chili powder, tomatoes, tomato paste and sugar. Cook, uncovered, over low heat 1

Make-ahead treats — sorbets and granitas

By Paul Bensen and

Whether you're serving an elaborate, multi-course meal or a simple dinner for two, homemade sorbets or granitas are an easy and distinctive addition. They can serve either in their traditional role, as a palate refresher between courses, or as a light, delicious dessert. Both sorbets and granitas can be made ahead of time and taken from the freezer to soften shortly before serving.

Nouvelle cuisine has been largely responsible for the current popularity of sorbets (which most of us grew up calling sherbets). Many of the best nouvelle restaurants serve freshly made sorbets as a trou de milieu (or palate freshener) before the main course to ensure that diners are at their most receptive for the chef's artistry.

Granitas, the Italian version of sorbets, are similar in ingredients but grainier in texture, as their name implies. The graininess comes from stirring the granitas with a fork during the freezing process.

Basically, both sorbets and granitas are frozen fruit purees. They are much lighter and lower in calories than ice cream because cream is either absent or used very sparingly. Traditionally, granitas contain less sugar than sorbets, and so are even lower in calories.

The ingredients for sorbets and granitas are simple indeed. The basic recipes call only for pureed fruits, sugar, lemon juice and, sometimes, a bit of vitamin C powder (ascorbic acid powder) to retain the fruit's fresh color. We have found that the addition of ascorbic acid — which you will find in any health food store — is especially helpful in working with apples, bananas, peaches and other fruits that tend to discolor when exposed to air. For other fruits, the ascorbic acid just heightens the fruit's natural color, and adds a boost of vitamin C at the same time.

If you have an ice cream maker or sorbetiere, making perfect sorbets is a snap. Even without specialized equipment, though, you can turn out perfect results every time. All you need is a blender or food processor and an aluminum cake pan. Following are basic directions for both sorbets and granitas.

Using these directions, you can experiment with your own mixtures of fruits to create new sorbets and granitas.

SORBETS: Combine all ingredients in blender or in food processor fitted with metal blade. Blend until fruit is finely pureed. Place mixture in aluminum cake pan (aluminum will help mixture to freeze quickly). Freeze mixture until it is almost firm.

Return mixture to blender or food processor and blend again until it is fluffy. Freeze again in airtight container until mixture is desired consistency (about an hour, depending on temperature of freezer). If sorbet is to be made ahead, it may be frozen, then allowed to soften in refrigerator before serving.

GRANITAS: In saucepan, combine sugar and liquid and boil, stirring until sugar is dissolved. Remove from heat and allow to cool.

In blender or food processor fitted with metal blade, finely puree fruit. Remove to bowl and stir in syrup and lemon juice and chill, covered, for 1 to 2 hours until cold. Transfer to aluminum cake pan and freeze, stirring with fork every 20 to 30 minutes until firm but not solidly frozen (about 2 hours.)

MANGO SORBET

2 lbs. mangoes, peeled and pitted
 $\frac{1}{2}$ cup sugar
1 tbsp. freshly squeezed lemon juice
 $\frac{1}{4}$ tsp. ascorbic acid powder (optional)

Follow basic directions for sorbet, above.

Makes about 2 $\frac{1}{2}$ cups.

PEACH SORBET

2 lbs. fresh peaches, peeled, pitted and cut into pieces
 $\frac{1}{2}$ cup sugar

BULGUR-RAISIN COOKIES

$\frac{1}{2}$ cup bulgur
2 cups boiling water
 $\frac{1}{2}$ cup butter or margarine, at room temperature
 $\frac{1}{2}$ cup firmly packed brown sugar
1 egg
1 cup whole wheat flour
 $\frac{1}{2}$ tsp. baking soda
 $\frac{1}{4}$ tsp. salt
 $\frac{1}{2}$ tsp. vanilla
1 cup raisins

Place bulgur in small, deep bowl. Pour boiling water over bulgur and let stand 15 to 20 minutes. Turn bulgur into strainer and press to drain liquid.

Preheat oven to 375 F. Lightly oil 2 cookie sheets. Set aside.

In large mixing bowl cream together butter and sugar until fluffy. Beat in egg.

In separate bowl combine flour, baking soda and salt. Gradually beat dry mixture into creamed mixture, then stir in vanilla, raisins and drained bulgur.

Drop by rounded teaspoons onto prepared cookie sheets. Bake in preheated oven about 12 minutes, or until golden brown.

2 cups water
1 lb. frozen raspberries (unsweetened)
1 tbsp. freshly squeezed lemon juice

In saucepan, combine sugar and 1 cup water and bring to boil over high heat, stirring, until sugar is dissolved. Remove syrup from heat and allow to cool.

In blender or food processor fitted with metal blade, blend raspberries, combined with 1 cup water, until smooth. Strain puree to remove seeds. Remove to aluminum cake pan and stir in syrup and lemon juice. Chill in refrigerator until cold — 60 to 90 minutes.

Stir mixture and place in freezer, stirring with fork every 20 to 30 minutes, until mixture is frozen, but not hard.

Using fork, scrape into individual chilled bowls and serve.

Makes about 4 cups.

BLUEBERRY GRANITA

$\frac{1}{2}$ cup sugar
1 cup dry red wine
1 $\frac{1}{4}$ cups water
1 lb. frozen blueberries, unsweetened
2 tbsps. lemon juice

In saucepan, combine sugar, wine and 1 cup water and bring to boil, stirring, over high heat until sugar is dissolved. Reduce heat and simmer for 5 minutes. Remove syrup from heat and allow to cool.

In blender or food processor fitted with metal blade, blend blueberries, combined with $\frac{1}{2}$ cup water, until smooth. Add syrup and blend again until well mixed.

Strain puree, remove to aluminum cake pan and stir in lemon juice. Chill in refrigerator until cold — 60 to 90 minutes.

Stir mixture and place in freezer, stirring with fork every 20 to 30 minutes, until mixture is frozen but not hard.

Using fork, scrape into individual chilled bowls and serve.

Makes about 4 cups.

Cool on wire racks and store in airtight container.

Makes 3 dozen.

BULGUR PILAF

3 tbsps. butter or margarine
1 small onion, coarsely chopped
1 small green pepper, seeded and chopped
1 cup sliced mushrooms
2 tbsps. chopped fresh parsley
1 cup bulgur
 $\frac{1}{4}$ tsp. ground cumin
 $\frac{1}{4}$ tsp. pepper
2 cups vegetable stock or bouillon

Melt butter in large skillet; add onion, green pepper and mushrooms. Saute, stirring often, until vegetables are limp, about 5 minutes.

Stir in parsley and bulgur, and continue stirring for several minutes, until bulgur is golden.

Stir in seasonings and vegetable stock or bouillon and bring to boil. Cover, reduce heat, and simmer 15 to 20 minutes, until bulgur is tender and all liquid is absorbed.

Serves 4.

Microwave Magic

By Desiree Vivea

The outspoken onion, Washington's favorite

Zesty onions play an important flavoring role in most of the world's cuisines. Sure, there are a few faint souls here and there for whom the pungent bulb is a bit too powerful. They can keep their timid and onionless spaghetti sauce, enchiladas, hamburgers and salads — but give me onions anytime!

The onion is one of the more "outspoken" members of the lily family. It is said to have been George Washington's favorite vegetable, and if onion breath was good enough for him, it's good enough for me.

The onion's "punch" comes from a volatile oil that is rich in sulfur compounds. (This is what makes your eyes sting when you cut into the bulb.)

To sweeten breath after an onion fest, chew a bit of raw parsley, or try a quick gargle with your favorite mouthwash. If an oniony odor lingers on your fingers after chopping, rub hands with lemon juice or vinegar, then wash with soap and water.

Onions should be stored in a cool, dark, dry place, where they will keep for at least one month. If you need only a little, cut off a slice without peeling the whole onion. Seal the cut edge with plastic wrap and refrigerate. The skin will help preserve freshness. Cooked onions will keep in the fridge for up to four days.

Onions are low in sodium and calories (only 45 to a whole cupful!), and they provide goodly amounts of calcium, potassium and vitamins A and C. Like all other vegetables, they microwave beautifully, so if yours is an onion-lovin' family, the following recipes are sure to please.

STUFFED ONIONS - SUPREME

- 6 large yellow onions
- 1/4 cup water
- 1/2 lb. lean ground beef, crumbled
- 1 cup shredded cheddar cheese
- 2 tbsps. minced fresh parsley
- 1/4 tsp. oregano
- 1/4 tsp. garlic salt
- 1/4 tsp. pepper
- 1/4 cup fine dry bread crumbs
- 2 tbsps. butter or margarine, melted
- Paprika

Peel onions carefully, trimming 1/2-inch off sprout ends. Trim root end just enough so that onions will sit flat.

Arrange whole onions, root end down, in 13x9x2-inch glass baking dish. Pour water over onions and cover dish loosely with wax paper.

Microwave on HIGH (100 percent power) 12 to 15 minutes, until onions are tender-crisp. Pop centers out of onions, then scoop out onions to leave 1/2-inch shell. Set onion shells aside.

Chop remaining onion and combine with crumbled ground beef in 1-quart glass casserole. Microwave, uncovered, 5 to 6 minutes on HIGH, stirring twice, until meat is no longer pink. Drain off fat.

Stir in cheese, parsley, oregano, garlic salt and pepper, blending well. Stuff mixture into onion shells.

In small bowl, combine bread crumbs and melted butter. Sprinkle buttered crumbs evenly over stuffed onions, then dust each lightly with paprika.

Cover loosely with wax paper and microwave on HIGH 6 to 8 minutes, until filling is heated through. Let stand, covered, 3 minutes before serving.

Serves 3 or 6.

FRENCH ONION SOUP

- 3 tbsps. butter or margarine
- 3 medium onions, thinly sliced
- 6 cups beef broth, or 6 beef bouillon cubes dissolved in 6 cups hot water
- Dash garlic powder
- 6-8 thick slices French bread, toasted and buttered
- 1 cup shredded Swiss cheese
- 1/4 cup grated Parmesan cheese

Combine butter and onions in 3-quart glass casserole. Cover and microwave on HIGH (100 percent power) 8 to 10 minutes, until onions are tender and transparent, stirring twice.

Stir in broth and dash of garlic powder. Cover and microwave 8 to 10 minutes on HIGH, stirring after 5 minutes.

Ladle soup into individual serving bowls. Place 1 slice conventionally toasted French bread in each bowl. Sprinkle Swiss cheese over bread, then top with a little grated Parmesan.

Microwave 2 or 3 bowls at a time on HIGH setting for about 2 minutes, until cheese is melted and soup piping hot. Serve immediately.

Serves 6 to 8.

HONEY-GLAZED ONIONS

- 8 medium onions
- 1/2 cup honey
- 2 tbsps. butter or margarine, melted
- 1 tbsp. dry white wine

Peel onions carefully and trim off ends. Arrange whole onions in 1-quart glass casserole. Cover and microwave on HIGH (100 percent power) 7 to 8 minutes, until almost tender, rearranging onions after 4 minutes. Drain.

Combine honey, melted butter and wine, pour over onions. Microwave, covered, 4 minutes, basting onions with glaze after 2 minutes.

Let stand, covered, 3 minutes before serving.

Serves 4 or 8.

Soften caulking before scraping out

Q. What is the best way to remove the white plastic caulking around a glass shower door? There are leaks in the door enclosure and the caulking has discolored.

I have tried scraping, but the shower is fiberglass and I am afraid it will be damaged. Thank you for your advice.

A. Heat the caulking to soften it, using a hair dryer. Then carefully test to see if you are able to pry it out or scrape it out using a screwdriver.

Another technique is to use lacquer thinner to soften caulking. But before you try this, test a small area in an inconspicuous corner to be sure it does not damage the fiberglass.

Q. My large lanai is covered with an aluminum roof that I had painted white on the underside.

Mainly for Seniors

By Leonard J. Hansen

Your letters to me ask a lot of questions about Social Security and Medicare. Here are some typical queries:

Q. I have returned to the United States after living in Australia for 15 years. There I had medical coverage through the national system and I did collect Social Security from the United States.

Now, on my return, I find that for medical coverage I can get only part A of Medicare but not part B. Why? What can I do about it?

A. Senior citizens living outside the United States cannot be covered by Medicare, so in electing to live in another country, you have "opted out" of the initial offer of coverage by the Social Security Administration.

You can secure coverage under part A, but for part B you must wait for the open enrollment period — during January, February and March of each year. Those qualifying for the program at that time will have their part B coverage in effect starting the following July 1.

This same condition applies to people who work past age 65 and do not elect to take Medicare coverage, preferring to remain with a company insurance program. On eventual retirement the senior citizen can qualify immediately for part A coverage but must wait until the open enrollment period for part B.

The paint is now flaking off rapidly.

What kind of paint should have been used? What kind of paint remover or scraping should be used now, and how should this area be refinished?

A. You may have used the wrong type of paint. Or if you failed to use a primer as a first coat, you would also experience a peeling problem.

You now need to remove the deteriorated previous coating by scraping and wire-brushing. Be sure all loose particles are removed. Then clean with mineral spirits or a thinner/cleaner to remove oil or grease.

Dirty surfaces should be washed with detergent solution, rinsed and allowed to dry thoroughly. Then apply one coat of metal primer. Allow this to dry thoroughly before applying a good quality metal

In research with the Social Security Administration we find that there are some exceptions to this and almost every rule or regulation, so if you have a question, phone or write the nearest Social Security office.

Q. I am getting the runaround from my local Social Security office. They have left me waiting in the outer office for hours at a time, and the person who insists the answers must come from him just won't give me any answers. What can I do?

A. We have forwarded your letter to our key contact within the Social Security Administration, requesting that there be an independent investigation of the complaint. There are "bad apples" in any system or operation, and the Social Security Administration, particularly in the past, has had more than its share. In recent years we have been impressed with the positive reorientation to service and responsiveness in many of the offices.

If your claim is correct, you may expect to see some corrective action. If there is a problem in communicating to achieve an answer or resolution, that, too, can be corrected.

The Social Security Administration is a service department, and should be responsive to serious and reasonable questions. But, if you are unable to get what you believe to be reasonable answers, send a letter, "personally to the attention of" the local office director. State your concern, recite any instances of problems, and ask for paint in a finish color of your choosing.

Rust-Oleum manufactures cleaners, primers and paint for metals. These products are available at most paint supply stores.

Q. My condo has a concrete ceiling and unfortunately there is a large crack. I cannot use tiles because I don't have enough clearance from the heat vents and the window.

In your opinion, could the mastic compound and glass fabric method be used on concrete?

A. You should be able to use the glass fabric and mastic if the crack is not too wide. Repairs made using this crack-bridging system are said to be permanent, since the mastic itself never completely dries underneath (it surface-dries only), so that it is permanently pliable and flexible. Wall movement — the major cause of cracks — cannot dislodge or squeeze out such repairs because it is bridging the crack rather than filling it.

I would recommend the use of exterior Tuff-Cote, which includes both the glass fabric and mastic compound. This should be available at your local paint or building supply store.

However, before you continue with repairs, you might want to have the ceiling checked by a qualified building contractor to see if there are any major structural problems that should be corrected rather than just concealing the crack.

Check the Yellow Pages for the names of local contractors and home repair services. Be sure to get an estimate from more than one firm, and ask for references.

a response by his or her office or the assignment of another staff member to work with you.

If that fails, document your complaint and ask for action, write your congressional representative. Most congressional offices have at least one staff member who provides liaison with the Social Security Administration.

Q. With the cutbacks in Medicare coverage, we are concerned that we may not be adequately covered by insurance.

We have a Medicare Supplement insurance policy and a cancer policy. Is this what we should have — or what should we do?

A. We took this question to a nationally recognized expert on Medicare and Medicare Supplement insurance. Here are his general recommendations:

1. Read up on Medicare and its current provisions so that you know what it covers — at least in general terms.

2. Buy the best Medicare Supplement insurance program you can find or afford, to provide the greatest amount of coverage as a true supplement to Medicare.

3. With the combination of the two coverages, specific policies, such as for cancer or heart disease, become redundant, unnecessary and, perhaps, very costly for the quality of eventual return if you happen to get that specific disease.

TWEEN 12 & 20

By Robert Wallace, Ed.D.

Dr. Wallace: I am 15 and have a real big problem I hope you can help me with — and fast.

I am both mentally and physically mature for my age and because of this I feel comfortable going steady with a guy who is 22 and in the Army.

Believe it or not, even though Bobby is seven years older than me he is very immature and insecure. He is very afraid that I will drop him. He is a "mamma's boy" and I guess that I "mother him."

Bobby feels very comfortable when he is with me and I know that he loves me because we have discussed marriage. Besides, he gets very jealous if I talk to another boy.

My problem is that I'm not allowed to date. My parents think that I'm spending time with my best friend when I'm with Bobby. If they ever found out, I would be grounded for the rest of my life and they would go directly to Bobby's commander and try to have him thrown in jail because I'm "jail bait."

To complicate matters, Bobby and I are sexually involved and he also could be charged (if it could be proved) with statutory rape.

Bobby is aware of the risk but he thinks I'm worth it. Oh, yes, I forgot to mention that I do like Bobby, but I'm not sure if it's love or just physical attraction.

My parents are very strict but they are very loving and I love them very much so I don't want to lose their trust in me.

Please tell me what to do. I've been dating Bobby for six months. — Betty Betty: Stop a moment and let's review the important points.

First, Bobby is seven years older than you and also immature. Next, he is a jealous "mamma's boy" Point No. 3 is that you are not permitted to date and you are breaking your parents' trust by sneaking out without their knowledge.

To make matters much worse, you are sexually active and Bobby could be charged with statutory rape. Finally, you are not even sure you love this guy.

Wise up! Break up with Bobby for all of the above-mentioned reasons. Bobby will find another girl to mother him and you will meet many boys within your "age range" who will enjoy your company whenever Mom and Dad allow you to date.

Do it now. Waiting too long could be disastrous in many ways.

Dr. Wallace: I was really surprised to read in your column about the 16-year-old girl who was a thumb-sucker. I am now 20 and sucked my thumb until six months ago. After an extremely difficult or depressing day, I would wake up in the morning with my thumb in my mouth.

I did everything short of tying my hands behind my back to stop — nothing worked until I started wearing mittens to bed. I know it sounds stupid but it works. Yes, I said mittens, not gloves. When I tried gloves, a "gloved finger" still found its way into my mouth.

I hope my suggestion helps. — Nameless

Nameless: All those thumb-suckers out there thank you.

Dr. Wallace: My father works for the Cancer Society and his main goal is to get smokers to stop. He knows that it is a very difficult habit to break so Dad asked that I write to you and present a few quick tips to help teen smokers who are addicted to nicotine.

— Start by getting rid of temptation. Throw out all cigarettes, first breaking them in half and wetting them down. Clean out ashtrays and discard all matches and lighters.

— Exercise to relieve tension.

— When the urge to smoke hits, take a deep breath, hold for 10 seconds and release slowly.

— Eat three well-balanced meals a day. This will aid you in maintaining a constant blood sugar level, which helps prevent urges to smoke. Avoid spicy and sugary foods that may trigger a desire to smoke.

— Cleanse your body of nicotine by drinking lots of liquids, but pass up caffeinated drinks and alcohol.

Dr. Wallace, please let your teen readers know that the risk of developing lung cancer is 10 times greater for smokers than non-smokers. — Carmen

Carmen: Thanks to you and your father for the good tips.

Can cats get a dog's disease?

By R.G. Elmore, D.V.M.

Q. Can cats get heartworm disease? We live in an area where heartworms are very common in dogs. However, no one seems to worry about the disease in cats.

If cats do suffer from heartworm disease, what are the signs? If this is a potential problem, how can we protect our cats?

A. Until just a few years ago, it was thought by most veterinarians that heartworm disease did not occur in cats. However, it is now known that cats are susceptible to infestations.

While cats are relatively easy to infest with heartworms in experiments, it has been difficult to establish the true incidence of the disease. It is possible that the disease is transient in cats. In other words, infested cats may clear themselves of heartworms, live normal lives thereafter and never exhibit any outward signs of the disease.

The same blood tests that are commonly used in dogs to detect heartworms can be used in cats. However, the number of infective larvae from the worms is usually fewer in cats and therefore more difficult to detect. The chances of detecting heartworms by doing only one blood test are less in cats than in dogs.

Heartworms are capable of causing serious illness and death in cats. Adult worms live in the heart and major arteries that carry blood from the heart to the lungs. Therefore, the circulation of blood is mechanically blocked and the blood is not properly oxygenated. Heartworms have been seen in other organs of the body too, including the brain.

Depending on the site of the worms, all of the following problems have been reported in cats suffering the disease: coughing, difficult breathing, persistent sneezing, vomiting, diarrhea, lack of appetite, yellowish discoloration of mucous membranes in mouth and around eyes, lethargy and head tilting. There are many other diseases that also cause the same signs in sick cats.

Although no specific treatment programs have been established for heartworms in cats, most researchers currently advise using the same drugs used in the treatment of dogs. Treatment is not without risk; therefore, the cat must be hospitalized and observed closely. Some researchers advise putting cats on preventive heartworm programs. This involves medicating the cat's food daily during the mosquito season, beginning approximately one month prior to and continuing for two months following, since the disease is spread by mosquitoes.

Your local veterinarian can advise you regarding the risks of heartworm disease in your cats. There is still much research needed to establish the importance, treatment and prevention of heartworm disease in cats.
