Hicksville School Bd. To Resubmit Budget

Special to Mid Island Times
By Maureen Traxler

Meeting on May 21, two weeks after the defeat of its $40 million budget, the Hicksville School Board voted 5 to 1 to resubmit an amended budget to the electorate on June 25. The Board trimmed $246,968 from the budget, but was forced to add $3900, the cost of a new vote. These actions further reduced the budget by $243,068. The $3900 needed by the district to fund this second vote would cover such items as advertising, registration, voting machines and printing.

A widely different range of opinion surfaced among the trustees from Daniel MacBrides' emphatic "no" on resubmission to the public to Thomas Nagle's insistance that the Board "must justify everything we put in the budget."

Lines were drawn. The Board members then proceeded to trim the budget, differing in certain areas, however, on just how much and where to cut.

The bulk of the cuts were made in teaching personnel, with $200,000 directing affecting staff. The Board eliminated eight positions - 2 in language arts, one in foreign language, 2 in physical education, 2 in social studies and one in math. Superintendent Catherine Fenton acknowledged that personnel review would normally be done at this time of year. Positions no longer needed, mainly due to declining enrollment, would be eliminated.

Further reductions were made as follows: $8,000 in tutors, $10,000 in psychology personnel, $8,000 in in-service training, $1,000 in school administration dues, $1,400 in fees, $6,568 in equipment, $11,000 for one clerical position and $1,000 in youth activities.

In discussing the possibility of reducing the transportation portion of the budget, Assistant Superintendent William Hall noted that the district has explored the idea of cooperative bidding. He said that since neighboring districts have already made commitments for the coming year, this was not possible until at least 1987-88.

In answer to a query by a resident as to what an austerity budget would entail, Board President William Bennett stated: The Board would like to have a budget in place by July 1, the beginning of the new school fiscal year. The alternative austerity budget would severely restrict spending. The only costs allowed would be for the safety and welfare of children. Other measures would include no sports activities, severe limitations on transportation, restraint on purchasing equipment, no new supplies and no summer school classes.

The Board agreed to place the budget review as the first item on the action agenda at its public board meeting on Wednesday, May 28. At that time, the Board will discuss any further changes suggested by any member and also review the dollar adjustments to the budget in fringe benefits brought about by the reductions in teaching staff. The meeting will take place at 8:15 p.m. in the Administration Building.

The 1986 graduating honors students at Nassau Community College were recognized at a recent ceremony attended by Board of Trustees Chairman William F. Rueger, right. Among those feted were, left to right: Steven Harras of Bethpage, Lisa Santore of Hicksville, and Kathelcen Heenan of Plainview. Honors students participate in a more rigorous academic schedule. Psychology Professor Bernard Gorman, who was named the program's Teacher of the Year, told the honorees, "There is nothing more buoyant for a faculty member than to see students, such as yourselves, acknowledged for academic achievement."

Letters to the Times

To the Editor:

My husband and I signed up for "Hands Across America" - being retired we felt we should do our part to help others.

Sunday, May 25, at noon we put on our t-shirts and visors that were sent to us when we made a donation.

We got to the Hicksville railroad station about 12:15-the station platform was just filled-it was wall-to-wall people (all ages), with their "Hands Across America" t-shirts. A very nice orderly crowd-we felt so pleased and happy this was a holiday weekend and all the young folks could have been at the beach or a park.

The older folks could have been visiting or relaxing but here they were all together for a common purpose-it really made you feel proud.

The train arrived at 12:30 and as we arrived at Westbury, Carle Place, Mineola and every station, more and more people got on. People carrying babies, elderly people with canes-helping each other to all help the poor of the United States.

At Penn Station, everyone went to their destination that their letter they received told them to go. We had 23rd St., 15th Ave. Well, to walk down 23rd St. and see hundreds and hundreds of people walking toward 12th Ave. was absolutely incredible-blue and white balloons were strung up on 12th Ave. We found a spot to get in line. We were 20 minutes early but everyone was so orderly it was so exciting-people making friends with people near them. We had such great people near us (but I'm sure everyone did). The police were out in force but as far as we could see, they had nothing to do because this crowd was the greatest. At 2:45 p.m., our line was so large it was made to zig zag in and out.

People with radios put them on loud and placed them in the road between the people so all could hear. At 3 p.m., we all joined hands and held them high and sang - "We are the World," "Hands Across America" and then "America the Beautiful" and then it was over-15 minutes-people hugging strangers that they made friends with and everyone clapping and waving at 15 or more helicopters flying over and then as we were walking away, someone started singing the national anthem, so we stopped and joined in.

Young woman volunteers with plastic bags were clearing any refuse left behind.

It was an experience that we will never, never forget, and we felt so proud and good about it all. Just before we turned off 12th Ave. and 34th St., a clown hugged us and would you believe it was "Patty Cake" (Pat Hughes) from Hicksville. We also saw Holy Trinity High School from Hicksville.

The volunteers who helped out were fantastic-polite, happy and efficient. We all thank you.

- Well, we got home about 5 p.m., tired but happy that we were part of something so big+so great and so very wonderful.

Sev. & Grace Knudsen
of Hicksville

To the Editor:

We, (my friends and neighbors and I), would like to thank all of those involved in planning, organizing, and those who participated in the Memorial Day Parade.

The change in this year's route, to have the parade go down Jerusalem Avenue, and end up at the memorials at the Junior High School, was really a marvelous idea and was a lovely and subtle reminder of what this holiday is all about, honoring those who gave their lives, in service to their country and their fellow men.

This plan also gave the parade a real small hometown atmosphere, which had not been quite so noticeable in past years.

Once again, thank you for your thoughtfulness and hard work, to everyone involved, from the organizers to the smallest child.

Sincerely,
H. Chapman

In The Mini Gallery: High Technology In Art by Warren Barlowe

High-Technology Art Exhibition

Now you can decorate your walls with technology! Long Island artist Warren Barlowe has created a series of acrylic-painted 3-D framed art works depicting enlarged electronic hardware and circuitry, and will be exhibiting them at the Plainview-Old Bethpage Library, June 1-30.

Mr. Barlowe uses the shapes and colors of resistors, integrated circuit chips and printed circuit boards to build bold, modern constructions from metal, plastic, paper and cardboard. His works run the gamut from crisp, highly realistic representations of hardware all the way to colorful abstractions that are more imaginatively derived from the original electronics that inspired them.

The artist has exhibited his work at the Nassau County Museum of Fine Art's juried exhibition in Roslyn, New York last September, and has been invited to mount one-man shows of his "high-tech" art at several Long Island Public Libraries, banks and corporate offices. He has been commissioned to create electronic art for corporate advertising photography. He is currently doing a solo show, "High Technology in Art", at the Plainview-Old Bethpage Public Library located at 999 Old Country Road in Plainview, opposite the Morton Village Shopping Center, June 1-30. (938-0077).

Summer Drama Workshop

The Plainview-Old Bethpage Library is once again sponsoring a summer drama workshop. The program includes five weeks of workshops in movement, improvisation, pantomime, etc. that lead to rehearsals for a production to be presented at the conclusion of the five weeks.

The selection of the play will depend upon the number of people accepted into the program and will be made before the first session. No prior acting experience necessary.

Mr. Macey Levin, Director of Drama at Hewlett High School and Artistic Director for Studio Theatre is the director of this program.

Any resident of the Plainview-Old Bethpage School District is eligible to audition.

Auditions will be held on Wednesday, June 4, at the Library from 7:30-10:30 p.m. in the Staff Room.

The workshop will run five weeks from July 1 to July 30. Sessions will be held four or five nights a week (Mondays, Tuesdays, Thursdays 8:30-10:30 p.m., Wednesdays 7:30-10:30 p.m.). Public performances will be presented on Friday, August 1, Saturday, August 2, and Sunday, August 3 at 8 p.m.

The Other Vic Theatre Company

On Friday, June 6, at 8:30 p.m., the Plainview-Old Bethpage Library will present the Pulitzer Prize winning playwright, Frank Gilroy's "The Only Game In Town" performed by the Other Vic Theatre Company.

"The Only Game In Town" is a heart-warming, joyful love story about two wayward lonely souls in Las Vegas. He is a piano player with a compulsion to gamble. She is a chorus girl who refused to take chances. They meet, fall in love, and the true game of chance really begins. It is a story that depicts a fanciful, humorous romance between real people.

The Other Vic Theatre Company's production stars Frank Scoblete, Alene Paone and Ray Weir, and is directed by Alan Francis.

Book Discussion/Review

On June 9 at 1 p.m., Barbara Krupit will lead a discussion-review on "The Duke of Deception" by Geoffrey Wolff at the Plainview-Old Bethpage Library.

In this extraordinary memoir, Geoffrey Wolff has undertaken a search for the truth in a life lived by lies. The life was that of Duke Wolff, his father, who managed to live like a prince, usually on the means of a pauper. Duke was a con man, brilliant, charming, but energized by outrageous schemes and aspirations. Born into a family of position and privilege, but possessed by an appetite for caprice, he pushed beyond limits of all kinds, and eventually beyond the limits of the law.

Next we will stop at a nearby restaurant for an early lunch (at your own cost) and then on to the Whitney Museum of American Art to see the bold highly styiized works of Alex Katz. He has created a new and distinctive type of realism that recalls movie stills and billboards. We shall have a lecture through the Permanent Galleries and see the Shaker Design Exhibitions. Death of a Salesman

In 1949, a play opened to the public. Immediately, New York Times critic, Brooks Atkinson wrote that it was "one of the finest dramas in the whole range of the American theatre." The play was worthy of such praise, for it was Arthur Miller's dramatic masterpiece. It was "Death of a Salesman."

On Tuesday, June 10 at 8 p.m., the Plainview-Old Bethpage Library will present a book discussion review on "Death of a Salesman." This play focuses on a man, Willy Loman, and his aspirations. Throughout the production, Loman's layers of hope are stripped away. This process is so absorbing that it won the Pulitzer Prize. Experience human drama at its best. Barbara Krupit will be the discussion leader.

Judge Thorp Talks To Hicksville Dems

Judge John S. Thorp.

County Court Judge John S. Thorp, Jr. addressed the membership of the Edward J. Giannelli Democratic Club at the May 23 meeting held at Levittown Hall, Hicksville.

Other guests attending were Supreme Court Judge Andrew J. DiPaola, Bob Machida, the Democratic candidate for the 5th S.D. and Constance Mullin, the Democratic candidate for the 14th A.D.

Judge DiPaola and Judge Thorp are running for re-election this year, after completing 14 years and 10 years respectively on the bench.

Hicksville District Leader Audrey Hagemann stressed the extreme importance of the Judiciary elections this year due to the Nassau Republican Party's continued policy not to endorse Democratic sitting judges. Since the Republican Party's new policy has been in effect, three distinguished jurists - Judge Alfred Samenga, Judge Marilyn Friedenberg and Judge Henry Kalinowski - have been defeated in the general elections. "If this policy continues, "stated Mrs. Hagemann, "it will be only a matter of a few years before there will be no Democratic judges sitting in Nassau County."

The Hicksville Rotary Club added two new members to its ranks with the induction of Tom Howell, center, and James Ifrisi, right. They were previously indoctrinated by Past President Arthur Pettorino and sponsored by Chiropractor Ron Platt. SRO At Civics Final Meeting

One hundred members of Hicksville's Midland Civic Association turned out last week at the Willet Avenue School to hear the Chairman of the Nassau County Board of Assessors, Abe Seldin, center, speak. Seldin spoke about how property is assessed in Nassau County, exemptions which are available to taxpayers and how to challenge your assessment. He is shown explaining a property record card like the one the Assessor maintains for every property in Nassau to association officials, left to right: Ellie Draycott, Gert Paul, Larry Weintraub and Richard Pfaender.

Representatives of senior citizens' clubs, civic associations and other community-based groups may arrange to pick up bulk quantities of the pamphlet for distribution to their members by calling the Taxpayer Information Bureau at 535-2790.

By Gert Paul

With feelings of accomplishment, pride, and good fellowship, members of the Midland Civic Assoc. overflowed the auditorium at the Willet Avenue School on Wednesday, May 11, to attend the final meeting of the 1985-86 season. The line for renewal was long and busy. There was a festive air on this occasion.

The program was packed with "goodies". First, we were honored by an informative and lengthy address by Abe Seldin, head of the Nassau Board of Assessors, a recognized authority on the subject. He explained how our taxes are computed, what our rights are in a tax despute, and how we can examine our tax records. Questions were plentiful, and finally had to be halted due to a lack of time. Next, Ellie Draycott, Civic-Affairs chairman, gave an informative report on all the issues of interest in our community. Barbara Nelson displayed one of the signs to be put up throughout our neighborhood as a culmination of intensive training for "New York Neighborhood Watch" in our area. Karen Donovan showed slides and discussed the "changing World of Real Estate in Our Town," and the pitfalls to watch for by buyers and sellers. Finally, with great warmth, Assemblyman Dan Frisa was introduced. He first inducted all the officers and members of the 1986-87 year, and then separately swore in the New President, Larry Weintraub.

Over a whipped cream laden strawberry shortcake, cookies and beverages, a warm and jovial collation ended a delightful evening.

1976 Bicentennial Remembered

The Grand March gets under way for the Hicksville Bicentennial Ball at St. Ignatius Hall, May 20, 1976.

EDITOR'S NOTE: a decade has passed since Hicksville enjoyed its fabulous year of American Revolution Bicentennial programs. Here is the article which appeared in the Mid Island Times of ten years ago, describing the village's Bicentennial Ball on May 20, 1976.

BICENTENNIAL BALL A HUGE SUCCESS
MID-ISLAND TIMES
MAY 27, 1976

The Parish Hall in Old St. Ignatius Loyola School rang with revelry last Friday evening as Hicksville celebrated with a Bicentennial Ball. Over 240 local patriots, many in home-crafted or rented costumes, honored the nation to the syncopating rhythms of Joe Testa and his orchestra.

Sponsored by the Gregory Museum, the ball was a most successful gathering, including amongst its guests and patrons a veritable cross-section of Hicksville community groups. Guests of honor included newly appointed Nassau County District Court Judge Warren Doolittle and his lady and Dr. and Mrs. Frederick Hill, Superintendent of Hicksville Schools. The noted educator provided a most stirring "toast to the United States Bicentennial" in one of many memorable moments in this night of pageantry. A lovely guest of honor was Elaine Tusa, the Gregory Museum's Bicentennial Grandmother Contest Queen, who was escorted by her husband Joseph.

Among other distinguished guests of honor or participants were two whose community-mined efforts made the large school hall available to the Hicksville Bicentennial Committee: Father Frederick Harrer, Pastor, and Samuel McCafferty, President of the St. Ignatius Church Parish Council. The Reverends William Karvelis and Hugh Cannon were also present to welcome the community. Mrs. Iris Wolfsen, President of the Board of Education, Mr. Lawrence Wolfson and Mr. John Ayres of the School Board and Mrs. Ayres were also on hand to join in the fun. Chief Roy B. Schaaf of the Hicksville Fire Department with some of his officers and their lovely spouses made up a handsome table.

The Oyster Bay Town Bicentennial Commission's popular Chairman, Dorothy H. McGee, author and distinguished local historian, was present, being escorted in the Grand March coincidentally, but appropriately, by a bearded young "soldier" (Kevin Evers) of the Queen's Rangers, whose green-coated British unit occupied Oyster Bay during the Revolutionary War.

Among organizations prominently present-many in costumes reflecting ingenuity and two hundred years of American history-were: The Galileo Lodge of the Sons of Italy, the Hicksville Kiwanis, Charles Wagner Post of the American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars, the Knights of Columbus, Troop and Pack 172 of the Boy Scouts of America, the Catholic Daughters of America, the Hicksville Auxiliary Police, the Gregory Museum and the Presidents of three units of Parent-Teacher Association, as well as Assistant Principal of Lee Avenue School, Mr. Lou Penque.

The Bicentennial Ball Committee was organized and sparked by indomitable Dick Evers, Bicentennial Co-chairman, ably assisted by Dance Co-Chairman Anne Gregory and Mrs. Myrtle O'Toole on ticket sales. Preparing the lovely hand crafted table center pieces and assisting in hall decoration were Mrs. Nancy Palahnuk, Mrs. Iris Widder, Mrs. Mary Jo MacDonald, and Mrs. Val Conover and lending time and effort with ticket sales and table and hall arrangements were Sig Widder, Bicentennial co-chairman, Mrs. Regina Petrone and Mrs. Harriet Flynn. Mrs. Nancy Born assisted with raffle and door prizes. All of the afore-mentioned volunteers are a regular part of the Gregory Museum's stalwart forces as were the young men who assisted with the Parish hall decorations: Richard Sullivan, Tom Daunt, Bob Hartenstine, Brian Boschert, Daniel Murphy, Kevin Evers and Mrs. Anne Evers and Rose Rinaldo.

St. Ignatius not only provided its spacious hall, but shared generously in the Bicentennial Ball effort through the contributions of many of its parishioners. Anne Maguire, Enid McEvoy and Larry Baroletti lent their skills in raising decorative streamers to the lofty hall ceiling. Peter Collins, Vincent Murphy and Patrick McHugh assisted with refreshments. George Finn and John Lupski kept good control of the "bar" and Bill Blanc and his sons were most helpful.

The Bicentennial Ball is the latest in an on-going varied program of commemorative events in Hicksville marking the Nation's 200th Birthday. Committee members are still hard at work preparing a great parade on June 12, Flag Day Weekend and an "Old-time Country Fair" and patriotic ceremony for July Fourth.

A record 220 Nassau Community College students have won scholarships, awards and citations totaling nearly $75,000. Among them are three students from Hicksville. Left to right from 3rd left: Mark Antonison, Suzanne Sierra and Jonathan A. Epstein. Mr. Antonison was one of only five students who captured three or more awards. He earned four, a Joseph F. Carlino, Jr. Academic Excellence & Service Scholarship ($3,000), the Thomas & Andomahe Hero Memorial Scholarship ($500), the Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute Medal, and the Engineering Science Departmental Award. Ms. Sierra earned the Patricia Louise Masotto Memorial Scholarship ($1000). Mr. Epstein earned a John F. Kennedy Memorial Award ($200). They are pictured here at special ceremonies accepting congratulations from President Sean A. Fanelli, right, and Trustees Robert Olden and Mary Condon.

Input Callers Mixed Ideas For Memorial Observance

Most callers to Input believe that the present celebrations of Memorial Day are good but many believe a national hour of mourning would be an added honor for the day in answer to this question: "Do you think that a special hour set aside throughout the nation would be a better celebration for Memorial Day than the present multi-events throughout the nation?" Here are some of the answers:

FOR PEACE

I believe that an hour set aside nationally with adjustments for time differential would be a good idea for Memorial Day celebrations. I believe, however, that it ought to be an hour set aside for peace. The local celebrations are worthwhile but the attendance at many are poor. I think this is due to the fact that many people take off on a long holiday and are not around to attend the memorials. For this reason a national pause might be good because people, wherever they are, would have a chance to join in. J.R.

MORE GRATITUDE

The local celebrations of Memorial Day are the best. They give local people the chance to remember, in their hometowns, the many people who gave their lives and time for the country. If it gets to be an altogether national celebration these many local heroes will be remembered less. I feel they deserve every ounce of gratitude this country and town can give. N.R.

LESS INTEREST

In some ways a national hour of mourning would be good but I have the feeling each year that less and less people are interested in the patriots who did so much for the nation. The idea of Memorial Day seems to have been lost in the shuffle to go shopping or picnicking and that just takes much from the whole meaning of Memorial Day. This is not just a day for the relatives who have lost people to come forward but a way the whole country should be showing gratitude to those who have done far more for democracy than anyone else. J.E.

FULL SCHEME

Yes. I think each year the Memorial Day events lack some connection to the entire scheme of the nation and an hour set aside would bring it all together. We are now seeing a little resurgence of patriotism after it had been all but extinguished by the radicals of the 60's, many of whom took the benefits of the country and then disparaged it because it asked them to make some sacrifice. We do not need blind patriotism to arise but we do need to know that in time of need that some will be called to duplicate the sacrifices of the past or at least to help promote peace before war starts. G.F.

A DEBT

I think there is nothing wrong with the traditional way we celebrate Memorial Day. A parade and some words to recall the past sacrifice of our boys. This is needed on the local front. There ought to be larger turnouts for the events but this can be done by reminding our citizens of the debt they owe those who made these sacrifices. J.W.

MAKES PEOPLE HAPPY

It seems to me that we had something like that once in the original two minute stoppage of everything at 11 a.m. on Armistice Day or Veteran's Day. I think that those two minutes in November were more impressive than all the speeches, parades, and special celebrations. However, our week-end holidays are the result of a number of things other than, or shall I say besides, the real meaning of the Day. Apart from the sincere desire of patriots to commemorate the Day, its designation as a week-end holiday stems from the negotiations of organized labor to build a backlog of paid "days off", the schools systems to build cushions for their own purposes and business itself concerned with a number of benefits, mainly I guess to capitalize on an expanded consumer market. All of this simply leads up to my conviction that while a special celebration hour would be more meaningful, the present multi events are set in concrete and, even if the politicians were agreeable to do so, which I doubt, there would be little incentive on the part of everyone involved to make such a change. And, if I might add one more word - it makes people happy! P.G.S.

Graduation Thoughts

By Patrice Barry

"When You Walk Thru A Storm" for graduation day? For elementary school? Jim had to be kidding! How could he pick such a sad song for such a high-spirited occasion? Jim, a favorite of sixth grade students, had succumbed to teacher-burnout!

But Jim remembered the song as influencing his life. It made me wonder, what did I recall being important in mine? In fact, what would be remembered in the children's eyes, in the future years to come? Would it be the academic subjects, or would a song or extra-curricular activity assume a major role in shaping their young lives?

Wouldn't Jim prefer the usual music? "Indulge me - I'm retiring," he grinned that crooked down-curve smile. "You're a writer - write new words for my song."

His song? Again, visions of Rodgers and Hammerstein came to mind. Their lesser-known "You Gotta Be Taught" (to hate) had sparked my teaching career. It made me stress more than just academics. Included in my curriculum would be sharing and caring for others, the meaning of tolerance and love. Children would regard learning with enthusiasm and spirit. They would appreciate books, animals, toys, themselves. All subjects would be fun, because they are compelling, challenging and fulfilling.

Elementary school is where it all begins. The children suddenly open doors to knowledge, and digest as much information as we teachers can feed them. Then they leave to "Moving Up" exercises - weaving their way onward to Middle or Junior High School, as they grow taller, more inquisitive, and ultimately wiser.

I asked the current graduates what had impressed them so far? Mentioned most often were the chorale concerts, band performances, school plays, shows to save the environment and fight pollution, young author receptions, balloon launches, charity jump-a-thons, computer studies, art exhibits, gymnastic events. Students would never forget the most recent school production of "Wizard of Oz", performed by fifth and sixth graders for devoted family, friends and fans.

What would I remember most about these children? Of course, the academic achievements, and the high test scores. But also little memories, such as when Mona broke her leg, but did her work, even though the crutches were uncomfortable. Or when Greg shared his lunch with Mike because the latter forgot his. Or when Cory, who stuttered, composed a story, read it aloud, and the whole class applauded. Or when Mark, who could not read words, learned to read notes, and played the clarinet. Or when Ann and Jeff collected old toys and clothes to give to the poor. Or when Doug and Heather planned a surprise party to welcome back Joey who had been ill.

I looked again at Jim, who has been teaching for the past forty years. What an awesome task to mold young minds and thoughts into capable competent citizens of our country. What an honor to be part of this on-going process. These little people, with their vast curiosity, are the hope and future of our country. They must grow with a zest and desire for learning. That's what makes teaching worthwhile.

Jim has his favorite memories, and I have mine. Hopefully, the new graduates will remember special school days, which will inspire them as they pursue the higher education essential to success in their future careers. I think the composers of "You'll Never Walk Alone" would be pleased that a dedicated teacher wants to retire to the sound of their music.

SPECIALTIES

The LaMarmite in Williston Park is one of the top restaurants on Long Island according to the ad you have. We will go along with that. We have been going to this restaurant on and off for some time. It is something special and spoils you for the many other "run of the mill" places.

One thing nice about LaMarmite is that it has several specialties of the house each day and they are genuine specialties. We have been disappointed elsewhere with the specials because they often turn out to be items that were made of leftovers. At LaMarmite we have to say that the specials are really "special".

Another fine point about LaMarmite is that you are given, attentive service from the beginning with the valet car parking to the end of the meal. This is really a first rate restaurant. G.E.

GOOD NIGHT

Last Wednesday we decided to follow one of the suggestions in your Reader Ratings. We were mainly satisfied with what we got although the service was a little slow. We went to the Platt-deutsche Park Restaurant in Franklin Square. The place was no stranger to us becauce we have been there many times before at catered affairs. But this time we went to the smaller restaurant and had sauerbraten. Considering that a check was reduced because we had four in the party eating sauerbraten and they gave us all of the salad we could ever eat it was a very good night both in food and cost. J.H.

TRIP INTO PAST

We always feel that we have a fine time and wonderful food when we visit George Washington Manor in Roslyn. It is like a trip into the past with modern food and service to visit the Manor.

They have a good menu of American food that is cooked just right. Last week we had a party of four people who visited the G.W. Manor and had entrees which included fish, beef, and veal. Every person in our group said that they thought this restaurant is one of the finest they had ever been to. We decided then that we should spread the word around and decided to make this call. J.H.

READER RATINGS

Q. Because of our jobs my husband and I are on different schedules several nights a week. I would prefer to eat out on those evenings rather than take the time and effort to prepare a meal just for myself. However, I don't really feel comfortable dining alone. I find most restaurants don't really welcome the person who is not in a group.

A. First of all, there is no reason for you to feel uncomfortable. In today's hectic world there is nothing unusual about people eating alone in restaurants! In any case, the person who dines out has the right to expect the same courteous treatment whether he or she is alone or in the company of others. The smart restaurant owner knows the importance of good will. He values all his customers' patronage and makes them feel equally welcome.

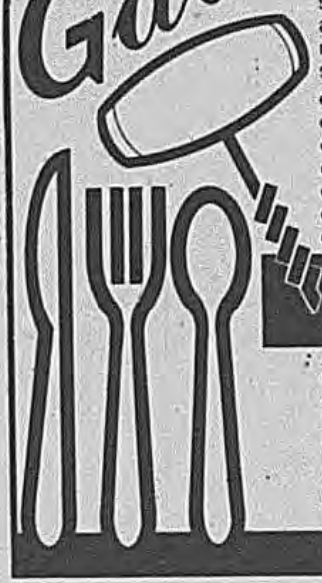

Q. Next month my husband and I will be entertaining out of town business associates. While they are here we expect to take them out one evening for dinner. While price is no problem (because the company will cover our expenses), we are a little nervous about where to take them. It is the first time we will be meeting our guests and we have no idea what their tastes are!

A. When you entertain people you do not know well it is best to choose a "classic" restaurant with French or American cuisine, rather than one which serves more specialized food. Once you select a likely place it might be a good idea to try it once before your guests come if you haven't eaten there lately. That way you would make sure the food and service are satisfactory at the present time. Always remember that restaurants can change!

SWISS BAKED POTATOES

This is the Swiss version of the good old American baked stuffed potato. Use Idaho or new California baking potatoes.

6 large baking potatoes
¾ cup coarsely grated Gruyere or ordinary Swiss cheese
½ to ½ cup heavy cream
¼ tsp. freshly grated nutmeg
1 clove garlic, mashed
1½ tbsps. chopped parsley
½ cup butter, melted
Salt and pepper

Scrub potatoes, prick with skewer and bake 1 hour in preheated 400 F oven.

While potatoes bake, combine grated cheese, cream, nutmeg, garlic and parsley. Set aside.

When done, remove from oven (do not turn off) and cut lids in tops. With a spoon, scoop out inside of each potato and place in a bowl. Add melted butter. Mix well, season with salt and pepper.

Stuff each potato with an equal amount of half buttered potato mixture. Add one-sixth of cream and cheese mixture to each. Stuff with remaining buttered potato mixture.

Return potatoes to oven and bake until top of each is golden and crusty, about 5 to 7 minutes.

Serves 6.

ROBINSON BAR POTATOES

This version of gratin potatoes, named for chef Bruce LeFavour's ranch in Idaho, is excellent with any simple or sauced meat entree. Le Favour uses buttery-textured Finnish yellow potatoes for best results.

6 medium Finnish yellow potatoes or red potatoes
1 clove garlic, cut in half
1 tbsp. soft unsalted butter
Salt and pepper to taste
2 ozs. grated Comte cheese (about ½ cup) or Gruyere
¾ cup heavy cream

Peel potatoes and, using mandolin or slicing disk of food processor, slice thin and pour in bowl of cold water.

Rub 9x13-inch gratin or baking dish with cut surface of garlic, then coat thoroughly with soft butter. Dry potato slices well with paper towels.

Starting at one end of prepared dish, place rows of potatoes, overlapping each preceding row one-third with next row. Lightly salt and pepper layer and sprinkle with half the cheese. Starting at opposite end, repeat layering, using remainder of potatoes. End with salt, pepper and cheese, and pour cream over. Bake for 20 to 30 minutes on the top shelf of 375 F oven. Serve immediately, or the may be kept in warming oven for 15 minutes.

Serves 6.

POTATO PANCAKES, GOAT CHEESE AND APPLES

1 large baking potato
2 eggs
¼ cup flour
¼ cup cream
2 tbsps. finely chopped onion
Salt and pepper to taste
4 tbsps. clarified butter
2 apples, such as green or red delicious
½ lb. goat cheese, cut into 12 slices and brought to room temperature

Peel and finely shred potato with grater or with shredding blade of food processor. Beat eggs together with flour, cream and onion. Add potato and salt and pepper.

Melt 2 tablespoons of butter in a 10- or 12-inch skillet over medium heat. When hot, add batter 2 tablespoons at a time, forming ovals. Saute pancakes over medium heat on both sides until cooked through, about 8 minutes. Repeat with remaining batter. Keep pancakes warm.

Peel apples, core and slice each into 8 slices. Saute in remaining butter until golden brown.

To serve: Divide pancakes and apples into 4 portions, and top pancakes with slices of goat cheese.

The dish can be prepared up to 3 hours in advance. Pancakes and apples can be reheated in a 300 F oven for a few minutes, although it is best served immediately.

POTATO AND FETA CHEESE SOUFFLE

4 medium boiling potatoes
4 eggs, separated
¾ cup half-and-half
5 tbsps. butter
1 small onion, minced
1 celery rib, minced
1 cup finely crumbled feta cheese
Salt and freshly ground pepper

Place potatoes in large saucepan with enough salted water to cover and boil for about 30 minutes or until tender.

When cool enough to handle, peel potatoes, transfer to large mixing bowl, and mash with a fork. Add egg yolks and half-and-half, and beat to a smooth puree with an electric mixer.

Preheat oven to 400 F.

Heat 3 tablespoons of butter in small skillet, add onion and celery, saute over low heat for 3 minutes, and stir into potato mixture with cheese and salt and pepper to taste.

Grease bottom and sides of 7-inch souffle dish with remaining butter. In another large bowl, beat egg whites with a pinch of salt until stiff. Fold one-third of whites into potato mixture, then fold mixture into remaining whites. Pour mixture into prepared dish, place dish on a baking sheet and bake for 40-45 minutes or until puffed and golden brown.

POTATOES AND SQUASH ANNA WITH PIMIENTO

- 8 medium boiling potatoes, peeled and cut into very thin rounds
- 8 tbsps. (1 stick) butter, melted and clarified
- Salt and freshly ground pepper
- Long strips of pimiento
- Chopped parsley

Preheat oven to 425 F.

Pour 3 tablespoons of butter into large skillet, add squash, saute lightly on both sides over moderate heat until golden and transfer to paper towels.

Grease bottom and sides of 9-inch heavy, ovenproof skillet with 2 tablespoons of butter and arrange ring of potato and squash slices around edge of skillet bottom, overlapping alternate layers of potato and squash. Continue to arrange potato and squash slices in overlapping circles until bottom of pan is covered. Drizzle butter over top and salt and pepper to taste. Repeat with a second layer. Arrange 2 overlapping layers of potatoes around edges of skillet and continue layering potatoes and squash in center, drizzling with butter and seasoning with salt and pepper. Press top layer down firmly with a spatula, cover skillet, place in oven and bake for 30 minutes.

Remove from oven, press down firmly again in center, and continue baking, uncovered, for 30 minutes more or until top is slightly browned. VEAL SCALLOPS IN SOUR CREAM AND CHEESE SAUCE

Preparation/cooking time — 25 minutes

- 4 tbsps. butter
- 4 tbsps. vegetable oil or peanut oil
- 1 medium onion, minced
- 1½ lbs. thinly sliced veal scallops, pounded very thin
- ½ cup finely grated Gjetost (Norwegian goat cheese) OR ½ cup of any of the following cheeses, crumbled or finely grated as appopriate: Feta, Roquefort or English Double Gloucester
- 1 cup sour cream
- Salt and freshly ground black pepper to taste

In heavy skillet, heat 1 tablespoon of the butter and 1 tablespoon of the oil over medium heat until mixture starts to foam. Add chopped onion and cook until translucent but not browned. Drain onion on paper towels and reserve.

Add the remaining 3 tablespoons each of butter and oil to pan. When mixture begins to froth, increase heat slightly, add veal scallops — in batches if necessary — and saute until golden brown, about 3 minutes per side.

Meanwhile, place heatproof platter in warm oven, to keep cooked veal warm.

Pour off all but about ½ tablespoon of oil from skillet and add reserved onions. Cook over medium-high heat, stirring constantly, about 3 minutes, until onion begins to brown nicely. Reduce heat to medium-low and alternately stir in sour cream and cheese, a bit at a time, stirring constantly.

Continue to stir sauce until cheese has melted completely and sauce has a smooth, creamy consistency. Return veal to sauce, add salt and freshly ground black pepper to taste and simmer for a minute or two.

Turn veal out onto heated platter, cover with sauce and serve immediately.

Serves 4.

ONIONS AND APPLE SLICES WITH CANADIAN BACON

Preparation/cooking time — 30 minutes

- 3 tbsps. butter
- 1 lb. Canadian bacon
- 2 large onions, cut in very thin rings
- 2 large or 3 medium firm, red cooking apples, cored and cut, unpeeled, in very thin sections
- Freshly ground black pepper to taste

In large, heavy skillet, melt 1 tablespoon of butter over medium heat. When butter is quite hot, add Canadian bacon and fry 2-3 minutes per side, cooking in batches if necessary, until lightly browned. Drain cooked bacon on paper towels and reserve.

Add onion rings to bacon fat and fry 5 minutes, until soft and translucent, adding more butter if necessary. Add apple slices and cover pan. Reduce heat to low and simmer, stirring every couple of minutes, for 5 minutes or until apple slices are softened.

Add reserved bacon and continue to simmer another 3 minutes, until bacon is heated through. Remove to heated platter and serve immediately.

Serves 4 as a luncheon or light supper entree.

Don't take away my cup of coffee

By Desiree Vivea

You never want to leave a pot of coffee on the warmer for more than half an hour, or the delectable brown liquid will develop a strong, bitter flavor not even a heaping helping of milk and sugar will cover up.

To prevent the utter ruination of perfectly good coffee, turn to your microwave for help. While it can't be used to make fresh coffee, it's the best device there is for reheating cold coffee. Just make a pot in the morning, drink what you want, and let the rest get cold. Then reheat by the cup whenever it's wanted for coffee that tasted like it was just brewed.

Heating beverages, by the way, is one of the most popular uses of the microwave. And no wonder, when it takes only 1½ minutes (at HIGH setting) to heat a cup of coffee or tea. (When microwaving 4 or more at one time, arrange in a circle for more even heating.)

Cups or mugs with metallic trim, and those which have been cracked or broken and glued back together, are not good candidates for microwaving.

To make instant coffee (or tea), mix powder with water in mug or cup and microwave 1¼ to 1½ minutes on HIGH (100 percent power), or until steam rises.

CAFE BAHIA

- ½ cup water
- ½ cup instant coffee granules
- ¼ cup sugar
- ¼ tsp. ground cinnamon
- 4 cups milk
- ½ cup whipping cream, whipped
- Ground nutmeg

Oven setting: HIGH (100 percent power); MEDIUM (50 percent power)

Pour water into a 2-quart glass casserole. Microwave at HIGH setting 1 minute, then stir in instant coffee until dissolved.

Blend in sugar and cinnamon, then pour in milk, stirring constantly.

Microwave, uncovered, at MEDIUM setting for 5 to 9 minutes, stirring after 3 or 4 minutes, until hot.

Serve in mugs with a dollop of whipped cream sprinkled with nutmeg.

Serves 4 to 6.

MOCHA DIVINE

- 2 cups water
- 2 packages (1 oz. each) instant cocoa mix
- 1 tbsp. instant coffee
- ¼ tsp. ground cinnamon
- ¼ cup milk
- Whipped cream (optional)
- Shaved bittersweet chocolate curls (optional)
- 2 cinnamon sticks (optional)

Oven setting: HIGH (100 percent)

Measure water into a 1-quart glass measure or casserole. Microwave 3 to 5 minutes, or until almost boiling.

In small bowl, combine cocoa mix, instant coffee and cinnamon. Stir into hot water, then stir in milk. Pour into two large serving mugs.

Optional garnish: Top each serving with a dollop of whipped cream, sprinkle with chocolate curls, and add cinnamon stick.

Serves 2.

CAFE A L'ORANGE

- 4 cups hot, freshly brewed coffee, or 4 cups hot water and 2½ to 3 tbsps. instant coffee (to taste)
- ¾ cup orange liqueur
- ½ cup whipping cream whipped with 3 tbsps. powdered sugar
- 2 tbsps. grated orange peel

Oven setting: HIGH (100 percent power)

Heat water in 6-cup glass measure 9 to 13 minutes, or until very hot and near boiling.

Stir in instant coffee, to dissolve, then stir in orange liqueur. (If using freshly brewed hot coffee, stir in liqueur.)

Pour into cups or small mugs. Top each with a dollop of whipped cream, and sprinkle with a bit of grated orange peel.

Serves 4 to 6.

Here's How

By Gene Gary

Q. Over the years our driveway has developed several potholes. One of these is quite deep. Is there any way that we can fix these ourselves without having to resurface the entire driveway? N.C.

A. You should not have much trouble doing these repairs yourself. There is no need to resurface the entire driveway unless you are concerned with the repaired area showing as patches, as these areas will differ from the older surface.

The materials you will need include loose gravel, asphalt cold patch and liquid tar. The last two can be purchased at home centers or lumber yards.

You will need to remove all loose particles and debris from the potholes. Use a small whisk broom or stiff brush. Once the surface is clean, apply some of the liquid tar to the lining of the area to be filled. Be sure that you thoroughly cover the edges with this coating.

On the deeper holes you will need to use a gravel fill before topping with the cold patch. On smaller holes you can add the cold patch directly as fill.

Use a shovel, and fill each pothole with cold patch, making a mound at least 1 inch higher than the surface of the driveway. Pound down the patching material with the shovel, or place a wide wooden board over the patch and slowly drive your car wheels over it to pack it until the patch is flat and even with the driveway.

Q. During the rains, I had several leaks in the roof of my trailer coach, which left large spots in the white ceiling of plasterboard. What should I do with the spots before I paint the ceilings? What kind of paint should I use — water or oil base? R.M.

A. A quality water-base flat paint or a semigloss enamel would be an ideal choice for painting the ceilings. First, however, apply a sealer to the stains, either one recommended for the type of paint you choose or a coating of clear shellac. After sealing, apply the paint with a roler. Any good grade interior paint will be satisfactory, including an oil-base paint if you prefer this over the water-base paints.

Q. We are planning to finish an unused area in our basement to serve as an extra bedroom and playroom. The flooring is concrete and I would like to cover it with sheet vinyl or linoleum. Would this type of flooring be satisfactory in a basement? R.L.

A. No. Concrete floors in basements need to "breathe" to release any moisture buildup. Covering the floor with sheet flooring may cause moisture pockets to develop and crete blistering in the linoleum. Tiles are better for covering basement floors.

Q. We are planning to redecorate our bedroom and notice that the cork tile floor looks worn. We don't want to replace it. Is there any way to restore its appearance? L.A.W.

A. Sand the tile with a very fine grade of sandpaper to remove the top layer of ground-in dust and dirt. This will uncover a fresh surface. Then wipe up dust with a cloth dampened with turpentine.

After this, apply several coasts of shellac, thinned half-and-half with denatured alcohol.

When dry, polish with paste wax. The appearance should be considerably improved.

Mainly for Seniors

By Leonard J. Hansen

Take to the air to travel almost anywhere you want to go in the United States and the world.

If you are age 60, 62 or 65 — depending on the airline and its specific senior citizen program — you can save 10 percent off even the lowest of supersaver fares. On many of the airlines you can even save 10 percent for your traveling companion, no matter what the age.

Qualifications and the offers vary by airline — most charge some type of membership fee — but you can save money from your very first flight.

Here are senior citizen discount programs as we can identify them at press time. More are being added.

Eastern Airlines

You have two different programs available: the senior citizen discount program and the Get Up and Go Passport program — both very advantageous.

For a $25 one-time fee, adults 65-plus can get a 10 percent discount off all air fares (including supersavers), receive a $25 credit voucher for air travel, enroll in the airline's frequent traveler program (with 4,000 start-up bonus miles). For an added $75 membership fee a younger person (traveling with the 65-plus person) may also travel at a 10 percent discount.

Eastern's Get Up and Go Passport program is an annual pass for people 62-plus, priced at $1,299 per year. Add-on benefits include hotel, restaurant and auto rental discounts. Add on extensions to the program, at $200, include some travel to Bermuda, Mexico, Bahamas and the Caribbean. Another version of this program has just been introduced, allowing the purchase of round-trip flight coupons (eight for $448; four for $348). Some day and seasonal restrictions do apply. Additional restrictions include the timing for reservations and the number of times a Passport program participant may visit the same city.

TWA

TWA has its Senior Travel Club at age 65-plus, affording a 10 percent lifetime discount off air fares, plus added discounts for hotels and auto rental and a periodic newsletter. Individual membership is $25, one-time, with a $100 membership available to allow a younger traveling companion, also with a 10 percent discount on air fare.

The TWA Senior Pass program is similar to Eastern's, with a $1,299 annual-pass membership price, to include near-unlimited travel throughout the United States. Add-ons or bonus extensions include $199 to the Bahamas, $499 round trip to Europe and $[illegible]99 for Bombay. Other benefits include auto rental discounts, hotel discounts and a periodic newsletter.

United Airlines

United calls it the Silver Wings Plus Travel Club, with the qualifying age at 60, for a program that offers 10 percent discounts off all air fares in the United States, the Bahamas and Canada, discounts on Westin hotel rooms and Hertz auto rentals. Charter lifetime memberships — until July 1, 1986 — are $25; with a $100 membership available where the air travel discount is made available to a traveling companion. Charter members also receive a credit voucher valued at $50 on a future airline ticket purchase.

Delta Airlines

Qualifying age is 62 in order to buy a booklet of eight round-trip flight coupons at $448, or four coupons for $348. There are restrictions regarding advance reservations, dates of flight, and there are some high-season or holiday times when the coupons are not valid for flight. The offer, though, can be a real bargain.

Ozark Airlines

This Senior Club, for a $25 charter membership fee (or $75 for companion benefits), offers a lifetime 10 percent discount on Ozark Airlines. Qualifying age is 60. There are added benefits and bonuses for mature adults who join the program before June 30, 1986.

American Airlines

A $25 individual or $100 with-companion one-time membership fee for adults age 65-plus can earn a 10 percent discount from air fares on American Airlines. Senior SAAvers Club members are also enrolled in the American AAdvantge, frequent traveler club, with a start-up bonus of 4,000 miles.

TWEEN 12 & 20

By Robert Wallace, Ed.D.

Dr. Wallace: Recently, I read an advice column by a leading female writer and she was discussing being a pen pal to a prison inmate. I just had to write to you because you write a teen column. I hope I can influence a few gullible teens.

When I was 16 I started writing to a prisoner when I found his name and address in a Christian newsletter. His letters were beautiful and when I met him for the first time three years later, I thought that I was in love and we got married.

My family and friends tried to dissuade me from marrying but I was "in love" so I didn't listen. My marriage lasted less than a year. I won't go into the gory details but many a night my body lay bruised and bleeding.

I'm not telling teens not to correspond with prisoners. I only want them to consider that a man who is locked up might not be the best possible pen pal.

Do you ever encourage teens to write to convicts? — Sandy

Sandy: I do not encourage or discourage teens from becoming pen pals with prison inmates but agree that caution should be taken if teens do decide to correspond with an inmate.

Dr. Wallace: I desperately need your advice. I am 16 and live at home with my parents and an 18-year-old brother.

My brother and my father work at the same company and have the same boss. The boss is always at our house on the weekends watching sports on television with the "guys."

I really don't mind that but I do mind that he has a filthy mouth and makes crude comments directed at me. Not only that, he bosses me around.

For example, I'll be doing something with my mother and this guy will yell, "Brenda, bring three beers into the television room for three thirsty fans — and make it snappy!"

If I don't respond on the double, my dad and brother start yelling at me.

I've talked to my parents about this problem but they don't think it's serious.

My dad says that because his boss is a good friend of the family that he and my brother get special treatment at work.

It is so bad that I don't like to be in my own house whenever the boss is there. Last night I complained to my dad for the umpteenth time and he told me that I was selfish and was only looking out for myself.

I've cried myself to sleep many times thinking about this situation. Am I being selfish or is my dad wrong for allowing his boss to boss me around? — Brenda
Ohio

Brenda: Your father, not you, is selfish and wrong for allowing his boss to dominate your home on the weekends. Please also add the adjective "foolish" to Dad's conduct.

A home is a sanctuary for all family members and no outsider should ever be allowed to disrupt its harmony. And no father should ever permit his daughter to be subjected to crude comments by a filthy-mouthed anybody.

Dr. Wallace: I am 14 and have problems with my dad. Everything I do is wrong. If I clean the house, he doesn't like the way I do it.

Dad is in the Coast Guard and he treats me like I'm one of his recruits. He always says, "Janet, our house would never pass a captain's inspection."

When I go out, he always complains that my clothes are too sloppy: "If you were in the Coast Guard, you would never get off the base dressed like that."

Well, I'm not in the Coast Guard and I'm tired of being treated like I am. Mom is no help because he treats her the same way. — Janet,

Janet: Ask for a family meeting and see if a workable solution can be reached. If the problem still exists — do your best and let Dad's complaining go in one ear and out the other.

Dr. Wallace: My mother collects butterflies and everything that has butterflies on them, such as coffee mugs, pictures and knickknacks. She has many different specimens and I would like her to get at least one of every different butterfly or a picture of every different one.

Can you please tell me how many different butterflies there are. How big do some of them get? How long do they live? — Rhoda.

Rhoda: Collecting butterflies is a marvelous hobby but it would be quite an undertaking to get one (or picture) of every different butterfly.

There are over 10,000 known species of the butterfly and they range in size from less than 1 inch to the swallowtails that have a wingspan of 10 inches.

Some butterflies hibernate and live for years, while others live for only a few weeks.

Quality Or Quantity?

When you advertise in a subscription newspaper you get quality readership. You know that EVERY copy of the newspaper has been invited into the home and three to four people will most likely read it.

When you buy quantity the only thing you might be sure of is that it has been hung on door knobs or thrown on lawns all over the neighborhood.

With our newspapers YOU ONLY PAY FOR COPIES that will be read. It is this quality that produces results. Do not waste money on wasted copies. Advertise here and get results.

Our (not so secret) ingredient
Readers = Results
is the reason we are preferred over the largest metropolitan newspapers and the many throwaways.

Hardworking wicker and rattan suit

Q. We are about to furnish a new family room addition that is open to the kitchen. Since we have three teenage children, we are looking for furniture that is attractive and comfortable but informal, sturdy and easy to maintain. Do you have any recommendations? — G.M.

A. You might take a look at some of the new rattan and wicker furniture being imported from the Far East. Many of these recent imports are sturdy, well-made and available in a wide variety of styles that can settle comfortably into almost any home.

Well-constructed wicker and rattan are easy to maintain and can take a reasonable amount of abuse. Since this furniture usually comes with separate cushions, it is not difficult or expensive to recover the cushions when you are either bored with the fabric or appalled at its condition.

Wicker and rattan can be left in their natural color or sprayed any color that whim or fashion may dictate.

The new array of choices in wicker and rattan makes it possible to furnish and accessorize the entire room in these materials. Notice in the room pictured how effectively wicker has been used in everything from bar stools, lamp, coffee table, sofa, chair and plant basket. And its natural finish matches the light wood of the kitchen cabinets.

As in selecting any furniture, be sure you try it out for comfort before buying and be very picky about quality. Shoddy wicker or rattan will practically self-destruct without any help from your teenagers.

Q. We live in an older house that is dominated by a long, dark hallway with a hardwood floor that runs the length of it. It's noisy and depressing. What can we do? — G.O.

A. The most effective cure for a gloomy hallway is a skylight. Skylights are not necessarily expensive and one or two of them can miraculously transform a grim hall with a flood of natural light.

If it is impossible to add skylights, try for the same effect with artificial light. Plentiful recessed can lights or track lighting the length of the hallway will go far in brightening the space and your mood.

Painting the hallway white or a light shade will add brightness also and expand the space visually. A wallpaper with a light background and small print will have the same effect.

Though you might have some resistance to covering up your hardwood floor, do consider wall-to-wall carpeting in the hallway, or at least a well-padded runner. Hallways with uncovered wood floors magnify sound like an echo chamber.

Finally, make a stroll down your hallway interesting for family and guests. Turn it into a gallery of favorite family photos or travel posters or that half-forgotten collection of antique dental tools — whatever makes you smile.

REAL APPEAL — From sofas to lamps, the new sturdy wicker and rattan furniture being designed today has real appeal for informal living areas. — Photo by Kim Brun

BOUNCING BACK AFTER CHILDBIRTH

By Harry S. Jonas, M.D., President, The American College of Obstetricians and Gynecologists

During a pregnancy, which averages 40 weeks in length, your body undergoes many changes to accommodate the development of the fetus. After your delivery, however, your body returns to its normal state in less than half that time.

Immediately after delivery you will be relieved but exhausted. There may be some cramping for several hours after birth as the uterus begins to contract as it returns to normal size. If you had an episiotomy—an incision that widens the vagina—the incision may be sore for several days.

A discharge—called lochia—begins right after delivery. Over a period of several weeks, it will change from bright red to pink to yellow-white before ending. Plan to have some sanitary napkins for use at home, as you should not use tampons until the discharge stops.

Once you're home, the most important thing for you to take care of is yourself and your baby. If you can, let your husband, relatives, or friends handle the cooking and cleaning. Your baby will do best if you are rested and relaxed, especially if you choose to breastfeed. It's not uncommon to experience "baby blues," a feeling of depression or sadness. These feelings, which are caused in part by changing hormones, should disappear within several days to a week or so.

Around six weeks, your uterus will have returned to its normal size, and you will have your first visit with the doctor after delivery. Many physicians recommend that their patients not resume sexual relations before this visit. Others feel it's okay before then as long as the woman is comfortable and any incisions have healed. This visit is also a good time to discuss birth control to make sure that your next child is conceived when you're ready and not before.

If you breastfeed your baby, it is not a good idea to diet to take off any additional weight from the pregnancy. A breastfeeding mother needs additional calories and especially extra liquids to insure an adequate supply of breastmilk. Dieting may be fine if you're not breastfeeding, but don't restrict your food intake too much if you are fighting fatigue.

After waiting patiently for nine months for your baby to arrive, it may be hard to wait for your body and emotions to readjust. But give yourself time to recover from an amazing performance—giving birth.

ANTIQUE OR JUNQUE

By James G. McCollam

Platform rockers first appeared about 1875

Q. This old platform rocker has been completely refinished and reupholstered. Can you tell us when it was made and what it would be worth?

A. Platform rockers made their first appearance about 1875; yours was probably made between then and 1900. They are very popular with collectors and ones like this are selling for $300 and more depending on condition and market area.

Q. Are cookbooks published in the early 20th century collectible? If so, are they very high priced?

A. I used to make fun of cookbooks as collectibles, but I have discovered that I'm not infallible. They have become a relatively hot item with collectors.

Take the following for example:

- "All About Home Baking," 1935 — $5.
- "Anyone Can Bake," 1929 — $5.
- "Better Homes & Gardens Cookbook," 1953 — $10.
- "Boston School Kitchen," 1887 — $12.
- "Breads, Rolls, Sweet Doughs," 1937 — $10.
- "Cakes & Pastries," 1938 — $10.
- "Campbell Kids Junior," 1954 — $4.
- "Gone With The Wind Cookbook" — $25.
- "Gordon Blue Cookbook," 1947 — $10.
- "The Jello Girl Entertains" — $20.
- "Farm Journal Cookbook," 1950 — $10.
- "Pillsbury Cookbook" — $9.

Q. I have a beautiful porcelain chocolate set consisting of the pot and six cups and saucers. Each piece is beautifully hand-painted with a floral design. The mark on the bottom of each piece is attached.

A. The mark you provided is that used by Erdmann Schlegelmilch in Suhl, Germany. These sets are extremely popular with collectors and sell in the $500-to-

Points on Pets

By R.G. Elmore, D.V.M.

Q: Our 2-year-old female poodle-cross recently appeared to be pregnant. However, she has never been bred. Her personality changed and her mammary glands became swollen. What caused this strange behavior in our dog?

A: Your dog most likely had a false pregnancy, also called pseudopregnancy. False pregnancy usually occurs two to three months after the dog was last seen in heat. The most commonly noticed signs include mammary development, lactation and personality changes.

In some dogs there are signs similar to those observed normally just prior to a normal whelping. These include nervousness, excitability, trembling, panting, restlessness and attempts to build a nest in a quiet place. Later behavior is similar to that normally seen during the nursing period following whelping. Toys, bones and other objects, or puppies and kittens, if available, are mothered by the affected dog.

Milk may be present in the mammary glands for two weeks or longer. The degree of swelling of the mammary glands will vary. The glands may be warmer than the rest of the dog's body and may be painful when touched. A white discharge from the vulva may be present. Swelling of the abdomen as if pregnant is very common. Abdominal contractions that mimic those of whelping occasionally occur. Many bitches with pseudopregnancy will have digestive upsets like those seen occasionally during the weaning period. These may include vomiting and diarrhea.

The signs of pseudopregnancy have also been seen in dogs spayed three to four days earlier. This usually only occurs in dogs spayed shortly after being in heat. With the exception of having puppies, pseudopregnant dogs look and act like they are pregnant and are about to or just have whelped.

Apparently, there is no breed or age of dog which is more likely to become pregnant. It has been observed in 6-month-old dogs following their first heat period and in dogs over 7 years old. Most dogs presented for treatment are between 2 and 6 years of age.

Although there is no apparent breed predisposition, there does seem to be certain families of dogs that are more susceptible. It is not uncommon for bitches to have recurrences after each heat period. Usually these bouts of pseudopregnancy do not affect later fertility.

Veterinarians make the diagnosis of pseudopregnancy based on the animal's reproductive history and physical examination. Blood count and X-ray techniques are often used to differentiate this condition from actual pregnancy or severe uterine infections.

Treatment of pseudopregnancy varies with the severity of the particular case. Most mild cases do not require treatment. In severe cases, drugs can be used to relieve the discomfort. In dogs with recurring or severe false pregnancies, spaying is usually the best solution.

False pregnancy is not uncommon in intact female dogs following heat during which breeding did not occur. Dog owners should watch for this condition and obtain veterinary help if it becomes severe.

This past weekend the beaches reopened for the season. I went with my family and we enjoyed a wonderful picnic on the sand. The weather was perfect--not too hot, not too cold, not a cloud in the skies, with a fresh wonderful breeze.

I hope you enjoyed your Memorial Day weekend as much as I did!

Love,
